Invasion of Israel Is Reported Repulsed; U.S. Fears New Outbreak of Palestine War

Rosendale Asks Control Measure

Two delegations from the newly created Rosendale Area Flood Control Committee traveled in different directions yesterday in quest of permanent flood control projects.

A delegation of 15 persons went to Goshen where it appeared before Sens. Irving Ives and Herbert Lehman, representing the Senate banking and currency committee. This committee has been holding hearings on proposed federal flood insurance.

WILLIE BIOFF

A SECOND delegation composed of Joseph Bianco and Joseph Reid traveled to Ellenville to consult with the Army Corps of Engineers and were hopeful they would meet Congressman J. Ernest Wharton there. The Congressman was unable to be present, however.

Edmund J. O'Reilly, chairman of the Flood Control Committee, pointed out to the senators at Goshen that the town of Rosendale needed immediate aid in the form of temporary works, which would allay the hazard and fear of flooding, and a long-term program of permanent flood control measures to prevent a reoccurrence of such major catastrophies as were experienced in August and October.

Henry Mollenhauer was the spokesman for that portion of the delegation who live on or near the Wallkill river. He described the havoc wrought to the farmers who till the Wallkill bottom lands and to other persons who own dwellings near the creek.

Jack Duffy, long-time resident of Rosendale and former member of the Army Corps of Engineers, told the senators how the flood affected the average person living along the stream and pleaded for a permanent system of dike walls, deepening of streambed, removal of islands and debris and widening of the channel.

IF A FLOOD insurance program was enacted, Mr. Duffy pointed out, it should consider the needs, not only of real property owners, but people of small means who rent homes along the stream. Mr. Duffy presented copies of local papers to the senators showing flood conditions.

Chris Zimmer, a resident of Tillson, told Sens. Ives and Lehman about the isolation of that hamlet during the recent floods, relating that Tillson was completely surrounded by water and that Civil Defense had considered the possibility of sending

Racketeer Is Victim Of Blast

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 5 (AP)—A nationwide quiz of hoodlums was underway today in the search for the bomb-slayer of Pudgy Willie Bioff, a retired racketeer credited with talking a few of his pals into jail.

Bioff, 55, was killed when his pickup truck was blown apart as he was starting it at his home in northeast Phoenix yesterday. He had been living here about six years under an assumed name with his wife, who remarked inaccurately after the explosion:

"HE DIDN'T have an enemy in the world."

Lt. Ralph Edmundson, in charge of the investigation for the sheriff's office, said authorities here have "very little to go on."

"We were not too well acquainted with the man or his acquaintances," Edmundson said,

2 Envoys Are Called For Talks

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The State Department called in the Egyptian and Israeli ambassadors for separate meetings today in its drive to keep the middle east dispute from exploding into a war.

Abba Eban, Israel's envoy who is seeking arms from the United States, was slated for a conference with Asst. Secretary of State George V. Allen at midmorning.

AN HOUR LATER, Egypt's ambassador Ahmed Hussein was listed for talks with Allen—the department's top specialist on middle eastern affairs.

In announcing the meetings last night, the State Department gave no hint of what Allen would tell the two envoys. This country has been trying urgently to bring an end to the Arab-Israeli border fighting, fearing it could flare into a renewal of the Palestine War or worse.

Before the announcement, a spokesman had said the department did not plan to take the same action as the British Foreign Office did earlier this week. The British called in representatives of Egypt and Israel and appealed for restraint.

THE SPOKESMAN said the United States was counting heavily on good offices of the United Nations to lessen tension in the middle east. UN Secretary General Hammarskjold has made proposals to both sides aimed at pacifying the disputed El Auja border zone, and the United States, Britain and France yesterday urged Egypt and Israel to accept.

Eban met for 50 minutes with Hammarskjold. Arriving in Washington late last night, the ambassador declined comment on the UN efforts or on what he would say to Allen.

Eban has been expected to submit to State Department

Kalish to Open New Laundromat At Broadway Site

A second laundromat will be opened about December 1 by Richard M. Kalish in the easterly end of the Byrne Memorials building, 525 Broadway, it was announced today.

The new laundromat will occupy approximately half of the building. The rest of the 100-foot building will continue to be occupied by Byrne Memorials.

THE EASTERLY end of the building, which will be renovated for use as a laundromat, is now occupied by Byrne for the carving and lettering of stock monuments. All of the machinery is being moved to the larger quarters in the easterly end of a second building in the rear where a large overhead crane is being installed to facilitate handling, loading and unloading of trucks. The second building in the rear is also a part of the Byrne Memorials property.

Mr. Kalish, who operates the Kingston Laundry, acquired the Lovejoy Laundromat, Inc., 726 Broadway, in February. It is managed by Linus "Sam" Quinn, a native of Kingston.

THE NEW laundromat, which will serve the central and downtown sections of the city, will be completely equipped with the West Leading at Geneva

Dulles Plays Vital Role Against Reds

Geneva, Nov. 5 (AP)—With Secretary of State Dulles playing the leading role, the western powers appear to have won the Big Four conference battle with Russia up to this midway point.

That may be the real reason Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is making the long flight to Moscow and back this weekend for consultations with his government.

NEWS OF HIS trip aroused speculation among western diplomats here that he will seek new instructions from Soviet leaders. If the speculation proves true, western circles hoped the result would be to modify Molotov's stand against action on German unification at this time.

Whatever the true purpose of his Moscow mission may be, the record of the Geneva meeting so far shows that the western Big Three foreign ministers have been almost constantly on the offensive and that Molotov has been most frequently in a defensive position.

The latest example of this contrast came last night when Dulles, acting for the West, confronted the Soviet foreign minister with a proposal for German-wide elections next September as a first step toward carrying out the western unification program.

Los Angeles, Nov. 5 (AP)—Harold Rosenfeld, 45, an interior decorator and son of a former deputy sheriff in New York state, has been sentenced to life imprisonment for murdering his wife.

A jury in Superior Court yesterday convicted Rosenfeld of first-degree murder and recommended life imprisonment. He waived a hearing on the sentencing. Judge Charles W. Fricke pronounced sentence immediately.

Nine Hurt In Four Accidents

Nine persons were injured in four vehicular accidents in Ulster county yesterday—three of whom, all members of a Pine Bush family, were admitted to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Mrs. Marion Langyel, 31, of Pine Bush, was reported in good condition and her daughters, Fannie, 12, and Rose, 9, were described as "fairly good." A third daughter, Marion, 15, was treated but not admitted.

Mrs. Langyel was reported to have suffered a fractured right foot and lacerations of the right eye, Fannie a brain concussion and Rose shock and abrasions. Marion was treated for abrasions of the right heel and lacerations of the left leg.

HIGHLAND State Police said a car operated by Francis Lare, 37, of Newburgh, traveling south on Route 208 about a quarter of a mile north of the Wallkill Prison at 6:15 p. m., was negotiating a right curve when it was in collision with a car operated by Martin Quick, 28, of Highland, traveling north. Troopers L. M. Luongo and J. J. Cullen, who investigated, said the two drivers swerved to avoid each other but struck each other almost head-on.

Schools Prepare For Education Week Observance

In connection with American Education Week, which is being observed throughout the United States from November 6 to 13, Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Kingston schools, is extending a cordial invitation to all interested parents and friends to visit their schools this coming Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Several of the city schools are making special plans for Wednesday as a visiting day and others are planning parent teas on various days of the week.

THIS YEAR four national organizations, the National Education Association, American Legion, P-TA and the United States Office of Education are sponsoring American Education Week, which was founded in 1921 for the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and the needs of the public schools.

It is expected that more than 20,000,000 will accept the invitation of the public schools to visit calss rooms and see their schools in action during Education

Israeli Attack Is Beaten Back

Jerusalem, Nov. 5 (AP)—An Egyptian spokesman said an attack by nine Israeli armored cars precipitated a 45-minute gun duel in the Gaza Strip today. An Israeli foreign office spokesman, reporting clashes in the same area, said three Egyptian attempts to invade Israeli were repulsed.

The Egyptian spokesman said the Israeli armored cars approached the Israeli-Egyptian demarcation line south of Khan Yunis in the Gaza Strip and started firing. The Egyptians returned the fire and the armored cars withdrew, he said.

THE ISRAELI spokesman did not pinpoint the three Egyptian thrusts. Neither side reported casualties in today's engagements.

It was the second straight day of clashes on the Gaza front. The Israelis said two Egyptian platoons attacked advanced Israeli positions yesterday but were repulsed.

UN observers went to the scene for an on-the-spot investigation of today's engagements as UN and other diplomats worked

Eddyville Span Will BeChecked

Reopening Off Until Inspection

Decision on reopening the Eddyville bridge has been reserved pending an inspection of the span by a diver "to investigate possible undermining of the abutment, the State Department of Public Works said yesterday in a letter to Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

The bridge was damaged during the flood on October 15 and 16 and was closed after the State Department of Public Works expressed belief that the abutment had been damaged by flood waters.

THE PUBLIC WORKS department told The Freeman late Friday afternoon it had released a letter to Sen. Wicks in answer to a communication sent by the senator on November 2 in which, on behalf of Supervisors Edward R. Eckert of the town of Esopus and Percy Bush of the town of Ulster, the senator requested State Superintendent of Public Works John W. Johnson to take immediate action toward reopening the bridge.

A spokesman at the office of Harry G. Krom, county assistant engineer of the State Department of Public Works, said the Kingston office had been notified by Albany that the diver would arrive Wednesday to make the inspection. The Albany office told The Freeman the inspection

Papers Served In Libel Action

Conrad J. Heiselman, former mayor has retained Attorney Charles H. Gaffney of Kingston as counsel in an action for slander and libel against former mayor William F. Edelmuth, present Democratic candidate for mayor and the Kingston-Ulster Press and some of its officers.

Mr. Heiselman told The Freeman today that papers had been served Friday on all concerned.

THE SUIT is being brought by Mr. Heiselman for remarks during a broadcast made by Mr. Edelmuth an account of which was published in the Kingston-Ulster Press.

Mr. Heiselman is asking for punitive damages as a result of a statement which implied that former mayor Heiselman had engaged in poker playing in his private office at City Hall.

Says Poker Charge True

Edelmuth Declares He Has Gambling Witness

Former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, Democratic candidate for mayor, made the following statement today in regard to the suit for libel and slander, which former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman announced in The Freeman Friday he would institute against him:

"The libel and slander action brought by Conrad J. Heiselman against me for a statement that I made this past Thursday is a typical Kremlin bit of political chicanery. I have not withdrawn the statement as he requested in a personal letter delivered to me by the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

The statement that he played poker games in the private Mayor's Office in City Hall is true. I have a witness that participated in those gambling games, and he will testify to this fact when this action is brought to court.

This is not the first action that Mr. Heiselman has threatened me with, he used the same political tactics in my campaign in 1941, when I defeated him for the position of Mayor of the City of Kingston.

This is an attempt by Mr. Heiselman to becloud the actual issues in this campaign in a drive to fool the voters. If Mr. Heiselman has anything constructive to add to this campaign, he should have done so during the past weeks of this campaign. He should not have waited till the last few days and then, used this political trick in an effort to gag me in order to prevent my telling the people the true story of local political bossism."

Four Missing in Air Crash

Dutchess Woman Tells Of Connecticut Mishap

Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 5 (AP)—Four persons were rescued and four more were missing early today in a crash of a C47 plane into the middle of the Connecticut river during heavy rain late last night.

The two-engine craft was en route from Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, to its base at Westover Air Force Base in nearby Chicopee in central Massachusetts.

Police said the plane crashed in flames about two miles north of Holyoke near Route 5 and about three miles from Westover.

The survivors, transferred to Westover AFB Hospital after treatment at Holyoke hospitals for shock and immersion, were identified by Westover as:

Navy Capt. Henry C. Nichols, Salem, Mass., said by police to be "hitchhiking" a ride home.

1st Lt. Joseph M. Delaurentis, 40, of 1 Lathrop street, South Hadley Falls, Mass.

T-Sgt. Richard Gearhard, 32, of 809 Atlantic avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

The Westover public information officer identified one of the missing as Capt. Wilmer L. Paulsen, pilot, and member of the 4050 Air Refuelling Wing who lived at the base with his wife, Barbara.

The officer said names of the other three will be announced after next of kin are notified.

Democratic Leaders Reported at Odds Whether to Attack President in 1956

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Democratic leaders were reported in disagreement today over whether to strike directly at President Eisenhower in next year's campaign even if he runs again.

One group of Democrats was represented as believing that public sympathy for the President because of his heart attack is such that a direct attack would be politically unwise.

But another faction was said to feel that the Democrats will have little chance of electing a president next year if they do not identify Eisenhower directly with the GOP record they are assailing—particularly if Eisenhower should seek a second term.

Even this group, however, apparently would make the President only a secondary target if he chose not to run again.

The be-kind-to-Eisenhower theory seems likely to be followed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, and other congressional leaders who have been paving the way for action on what they call "moderate" Democratic legislative program.

Johnson never gave much encouragement to Chairman Paul M. Butler and other Democratic National Committee officials who had embarked—before the presidential heart attack—on a campaign of striking directly at Eisenhower.

Since the President's illness Butler has not repeated these attacks and some other Democrats have gone out of their way to display political courtesy to the President.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a potential candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, recently lectured those among the Republican party ranks who he said seemed to want Eisenhower to retire before his present term expires.

Speaking last Saturday in Muskegon, Mich., Kefauver said he has disagreed with Eisen-

TREE SIGNALS OPENING OF SEALS SALE—This tree donated by the Little Gardens Club is planted on the court house lawn in connection with the 1955 Christmas Seals Sale. Garden Club Lends Aid To '55 Sale of Yule Seals

One of the first Christmas trees to appear in Ulster county for the holidays was planted Thursday on the Court House lawn in Kingston. The tree will be part of the pageant for the opening of the 1955 Christmas Seals Sale which starts November 16.

The living spruce tree was donated by the Little Gardens Club and will remain as a memento of the Christmas Seals Sale of 1955. It was presented to Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, and Joseph Gentile, county auditor, by Mrs. Casper Gunther, vice president of the Little Gardens Club. Mrs. William McNamee, member of the club and secretary of the board of directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, was present at the ceremony.

On Friday evening, Nov. 11 (Armistice Day) the first bulb on the Christmas tree will be lighted by the little Ulster county boy and girl who most resemble the 1955 Christmas Seals. Through a donation from Myers Electric Company, arrangement will be made to light a new bulb for every $1,000 added to the 1955 Christmas Seals campaign. City-wide and Port Ewen Girl Scouts will sing carols under the direction of Mrs. John Olivet and Mrs. William Rylance. Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, Sr., president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, will buy the first sheets of Christmas Seals from the children.

James L. Rowe, chairman of the 1955 Christmas Seals campaign, said today that he looked forward to a tree full of bulbs by Christmas Day which will mean the quota needed by the Tuberculosis Association will be reached thus making it possible to continue and expand this very important program for Ulster county.

Democratic Leaders Reported at Odds Whether to Attack President in 1956

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Democratic leaders were reported in disagreement today over whether to strike directly at President Eisenhower in next year's campaign even if he runs again.

One group of Democrats was represented as believing that public sympathy for the President because of his heart attack is such that a direct attack would be politically unwise.

But another faction was said to feel that the Democrats will have little chance of electing a president next year if they do not identify Eisenhower directly with the GOP record they are assailing—particularly if Eisenhower should seek a second term.

Even this group, however, apparently would make the President only a secondary target if he chose not to run again.

The be-kind-to-Eisenhower theory seems likely to be followed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, and other congressional leaders who have been paving the way for action on what they call "moderate" Democratic legislative program.

Johnson never gave much encouragement to Chairman Paul M. Butler and other Democratic National Committee officials who had embarked—before the presidential heart attack—on a campaign of striking directly at Eisenhower.

Since the President's illness Butler has not repeated these attacks and some other Democrats have gone out of their way to display political courtesy to the President.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a potential candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, recently lectured those among the Republican party ranks who he said seemed to want Eisenhower to retire before his present term expires.

Speaking last Saturday in Muskegon, Mich., Kefauver said he has disagreed with Eisen-

TREE SIGNALS OPENING OF SEALS SALE—This tree donated by the Little Gardens Club is planted on the court house lawn in connection with the 1955 Christmas Seals Sale. Garden Club Lends Aid To '55 Sale of Yule Seals

One of the first Christmas trees to appear in Ulster county for the holidays was planted Thursday on the Court House lawn in Kingston. The tree will be part of the pageant for the opening of the 1955 Christmas Seals Sale which starts November 16.

The living spruce tree was donated by the Little Gardens Club and will remain as a memento of the Christmas Seals Sale of 1955. It was presented to Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, and Joseph Gentile, county auditor, by Mrs. Casper Gunther, vice president of the Little Gardens Club. Mrs. William McNamee, member of the club and secretary of the board of directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, was present at the ceremony.

On Friday evening, Nov. 11 (Armistice Day) the first bulb on the Christmas tree will be lighted by the little Ulster county boy and girl who most resemble the 1955 Christmas Seals. Through a donation from Myers Electric Company, arrangement will be made to light a new bulb for every $1,000 added to the 1955 Christmas Seals campaign. City-wide and Port Ewen Girl Scouts will sing carols under the direction of Mrs. John Olivet and Mrs. William Rylance. Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, Sr., president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, will buy the first sheets of Christmas Seals from the children.

James L. Rowe, chairman of the 1955 Christmas Seals campaign, said today that he looked forward to a tree full of bulbs by Christmas Day which will mean the quota needed by the Tuberculosis Association will be reached thus making it possible to continue and expand this very important program for Ulster county.

Religious TV Program

"Catholics believe that if God designed a form of worship for man, He made that form of worship conform to the needs of human nature." This is the statement made to introduce a most penetrating study of religious worship and how the Catholic Mass developed. "We Believe," produced by the National Council of Catholic Men, is designed to present an objective and scientific approach to the Catholic beliefs and features the Rev. James J. McQuade, SJ, head of the Religious Department of John Carroll University.

Father McQuade's treatment of the Mass is particularly interesting in that he reviews the history of the nature of religious worship, leading into a discussion of the essence of the Mass. In interpreting the nature of this beautiful ceremony, he makes liberal use of a variety of visual aids which makes his talk clear and interesting to young and old, the scholar and the average man alike.

What Catholics believe about the Mass is the sixth in the 13 week "We Believe" series presented each Sunday at 1:30 p. m. on Channel 66. Next week, Father McQuade will discuss what Catholics believe about sanctifying Grace.

Your Life And Mine

THE GUNLESS GAME

Two weeks ago, as you may recall, I wrote about the hunting season and raised the question as to the difference which death might make in the household of our furred and feathered friends. Today I wish to follow this line of thought a little farther and say that there is a very rewarding kind of hunting which does not go out with a gun. And this gunless hunting comes back laden with some choice game, too. Sam Walter Foss tosses out the challenge and the rewards of this brand of hunting in some lines he calls "The Bloodless Sportsman" when he writes:

"To the hunters who hunt for the gunless game, the streams and woods belong."

One of the charms of Yellowstone Park, where we visited last summer, is the natural friendliness of the animals. No one, of course, is allowed to bring a gun into that vast acreage of nature's beauty. The delightful consequence is that the birds and the animals have no fear of humans. They go about their business under the eyes—and almost under the feet of the people. Even the bears beg by the roadside. Instead of scampering off into the woods to hide when a car approaches, they scamper toward it. In Yellowstone there are none of those fear-inspired inhibitions which deny to human eyes the privilege of observing how animals and birds look and act when they are perfectly natural.

In her book, "Freedom's People," Bonaro Overstreet tells about a conversation she had with a wounded soldier who had returned from the South Pacific. The soldier said: "There's one thing this war has done for me. It has shown me shooting enough and death enough to last me the rest of my life." He went on to say that his favorite sport before the war was hunting but that he thought he would give that up. While in the South Pacific he had become interested in photography and had spent considerable time in taking pictures of birds and animals in their natural haunts. "It's a funny thing," the soldier went on to say, "not that there's anything wrong with hunting. But I've sort of come to realize that when you hunt birds with a gun, you're not giving a hoot about them; it's just your own purpose that counts. But when you shoot birds with a camera, you're trying to understand their life . . . trying to catch them doing the things natural to them." After a moment of pensive silence he went on: "I thought a lot about this while I was in the hospital getting my knee fixed up. . . . And I kind of got the notion that what's wrong with the world is that we're always looking at people with our own purposes in mind and not caring a hoot what they want or what they are like when they're being themselves."

Hunters Mass Planned At St. John's Church

K of C Radio Programs

The Sacred Heart Program will be heard during the week over station WHUC (1230 on the dial) weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m. and over station WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m.

The Ave Maria Hour, heard each Sunday over WKNY at 8 a. m., will present this week a transcribed event, "The Miracle of the Thundering Legion." In the latter part of the second century, the persecutions of the Christians raged with fury in the imperial city of Rome. At that time, too, the Roman Empire was engaged in war with the German tribes. Due to lack of water, the Roman legions were almost overcome by the enemy when as a result of prayers offered by Christians in one of the Roman legions, a terrible rain storm routed the enemy and brought victory to Rome. This miraculous event is commemorated by a bas-relief in the Antonine Column which may still be seen in the Piazza Colonna in Rome.

Both the Sacred Heart Program and the Ave Maria are sponsored by Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus.

"I Was Warned About The CATHOLIC CHURCH!"

My relatives and friends were shocked when they heard I was studying to become a Catholic.

With complete sincerity . . . and a genuine concern for my welfare . . . they set out to show me what a terrible mistake this would be. And as I look back now, I realize that if all the things they believed about the Catholic Church were true in fact, I would indeed have been making a great mistake.

But the important fact is, the things they thought to be true were not.

Having been a non-Catholic myself until early manhood, I can understand the viewpoint of these people. And most of them, I realize, are prompted in their beliefs not by malice, but by grievous misunderstanding. And I am reminded of Christ's words to the Apostles: ". . . yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service" (John 16:2).

They sent me all sorts of pamphlets and tracts condemning the Catholic teaching on the Sacraments, on Baptism, salvation and other topics. There was, in these pamphlets, a remarkable lack of agreement as to the "correct" doctrine. They were in accord only in one thing—their opposition to the Catholic doctrine.

I have come a long way since I first looked at the Catholic Church through non-Catholic eyes. I am a convert to Catholicism, and I can, with knowledge, reason and fairness, discuss both sides of "The Catholic Question."

I have not, as my non-Catholic friends predicted, lost the slightest degree of religious freedom. I am not held to my faith by bonds of fear or superstition. The Catholic Church does not corrupt the Scriptures . . . does not deprive me of direct access to God . . . does not try to substitute a man-made system for the true religion of Jesus Christ. On the contrary, it has consistently taught what I am convinced are the true teachings of Jesus.

Not all of those who heard Christ's words from His own lips could believe what He said. Many of His disciples ". . . went back, and walked no more with Him" (John 6:67). It would, therefore, be presumptuous of me to think that all who read this will share my conviction that the Catholic Church is "the church of the Living God, the pillar and ground of the truth."

But there are, I know, many sincere, fair-minded people who want to know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is often misrepresented to be. And for their ben

Religious TV Program

"Catholics believe that if God designed a form of worship for man, He made that form of worship conform to the needs of human nature." This is the statement made to introduce a most penetrating study of religious worship and how the Catholic Mass developed. "We Believe," produced by the National Council of Catholic Men, is designed to present an objective and scientific approach to the Catholic beliefs and features the Rev. James J. McQuade, SJ, head of the Religious Department of John Carroll University.

Father McQuade's treatment of the Mass is particularly interesting in that he reviews the history of the nature of religious worship, leading into a discussion of the essence of the Mass. In interpreting the nature of this beautiful ceremony, he makes liberal use of a variety of visual aids which makes his talk clear and interesting to young and old, the scholar and the average man alike.

What Catholics believe about the Mass is the sixth in the 13 week "We Believe" series presented each Sunday at 1:30 p. m. on Channel 66. Next week, Father McQuade will discuss what Catholics believe about sanctifying Grace.

Your Life And Mine

THE GUNLESS GAME

Two weeks ago, as you may recall, I wrote about the hunting season and raised the question as to the difference which death might make in the household of our furred and feathered friends. Today I wish to follow this line of thought a little farther and say that there is a very rewarding kind of hunting which does not go out with a gun. And this gunless hunting comes back laden with some choice game, too. Sam Walter Foss tosses out the challenge and the rewards of this brand of hunting in some lines he calls "The Bloodless Sportsman" when he writes:

"To the hunters who hunt for the gunless game, the streams and woods belong."

One of the charms of Yellowstone Park, where we visited last summer, is the natural friendliness of the animals. No one, of course, is allowed to bring a gun into that vast acreage of nature's beauty. The delightful consequence is that the birds and the animals have no fear of humans. They go about their business under the eyes—and almost under the feet of the people. Even the bears beg by the roadside. Instead of scampering off into the woods to hide when a car approaches, they scamper toward it. In Yellowstone there are none of those fear-inspired inhibitions which deny to human eyes the privilege of observing how animals and birds look and act when they are perfectly natural.

In her book, "Freedom's People," Bonaro Overstreet tells about a conversation she had with a wounded soldier who had returned from the South Pacific. The soldier said: "There's one thing this war has done for me. It has shown me shooting enough and death enough to last me the rest of my life." He went on to say that his favorite sport before the war was hunting but that he thought he would give that up. While in the South Pacific he had become interested in photography and had spent considerable time in taking pictures of birds and animals in their natural haunts. "It's a funny thing," the soldier went on to say, "not that there's anything wrong with hunting. But I've sort of come to realize that when you hunt birds with a gun, you're not giving a hoot about them; it's just your own purpose that counts. But when you shoot birds with a camera, you're trying to understand their life . . . trying to catch them doing the things natural to them." After a moment of pensive silence he went on: "I thought a lot about this while I was in the hospital getting my knee fixed up. . . . And I kind of got the notion that what's wrong with the world is that we're always looking at people with our own purposes in mind and not caring a hoot what they want or what they are like when they're being themselves."

K of C Radio Programs

The Sacred Heart Program will be heard during the week over station WHUC (1230 on the dial) weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m. and over station WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m.

The Ave Maria Hour, heard each Sunday over WKNY at 8 a. m., will present this week a transcribed event, "The Miracle of the Thundering Legion." In the latter part of the second century, the persecutions of the Christians raged with fury in the imperial city of Rome. At that time, too, the Roman Empire was engaged in war with the German tribes. Due to lack of water, the Roman legions were almost overcome by the enemy when as a result of [illegible] offered by Christians in one of the Roman legions, a terrible rain storm routed the enemy and brought victory to Rome. This miraculous event is commemorated by a bas-relief in the Antonine Column which may still be seen in the Piazza Colonna in Rome.

Both the Sacred Heart Program and the Ave Maria are sponsored by Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus.

"I Was Warned About The CATHOLIC CHURCH!"

My relatives and friends were shocked when they heard I was studying to become a Catholic.

With complete sincerity... and a genuine concern for my welfare ...they set out to show me what a terrible mistake this would be. And as I look back now, I realize that if all the things they believed about the Catholic Church were true in fact, I would indeed have been making a great mistake.

But the important fact is, the things they thought to be true were not.

Having been a non-Catholic myself until early manhood, I can understand the viewpoint of these people. And most of them, I realize, are prompted in their beliefs not by malice, but by grievous misunderstanding. And I am reminded of Christ's words to the Apostles: "...yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service" (John 16:2).

They sent me all sorts of pamphlets and tracts condemning the Catholic teaching on the Sacraments, on Baptism, salvation and other topics. There was, in these pamphlets, a remarkable lack of agreement as to the "correct" doctrine. They were in accord only in one thing—their opposition to the Catholic doctrine.

I have come a long way since I first looked at the Catholic Church through non-Catholic eyes. I am a convert to Catholicism, and I can, with knowledge, reason and fairness, discuss both sides of "The Catholic Question."

I have not, as my non-Catholic friends predicted, lost the slightest degree of religious freedom. I am not held to my faith by bonds of fear or superstition. The Catholic Church does not corrupt the Scriptures...does not deprive me of direct access to God...does not try to substitute a man-made system for the true religion of Jesus Christ. On the contrary, it has consistently taught what I am convinced are the true teachings of Jesus.

Not all of those who heard Christ's words from His own lips could believe what He said. Many of His disciples "...went back, and walked no more with Him" (John 6:67). It would, therefore, be presumptuous of me to think that all who read this will share my conviction that the Catholic Church is "the church of the Living God, the pillar and ground of the truth."

But there are, I know, many sincere, fair-minded people who want to know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is often misrepresented to be. And for their benefit, I have written a pamphlet discussing many things about the Catholic Faith which most disturb and confuse those on the outside. A copy is yours for the asking. It will come to you in a plain wrapper, and nobody will call on you. Write today for

See Soviet Move

Moscow, Nov. 5 (AP)—Western circles here speculated today that a sudden stoppage in repatriation of German war prisoners was a Soviet pressure move to induce West Germany to speed up establishment of diplomatic relations. Reports from Germany said of 9,626 prisoners due to be sent home, only 6,200 had arrived so far, and none had been seen since Oct. 22.

Israeli Attack

to restore peace before the flames of battle spread beyond the trigger-happy Israeli-Arab border.

FIFTY MILES south of Gaza, fresh Egyptian troops dug in around their checkpost atop the El Sabha plateau in the demilitarized El Auja-Nizana zone, scene of a 17-hour battle between Israelis and Egyptians Thursday. In referring to the El Sabha post the Egyptians and Israelis seem to be talking about two different places on the same plateau, which is crossed by the border.

Recapitulating that battle—described as the worst since 1948—the Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said: "In order to expel Egyptian troops entrenched in Israel an Irsaeli battalion had to get the Egyptians out of a supporting position in their own territory. Having done that, the Irsaeli force cleared the Egyptians out of Israel.

"The Egyptians have no doubt since returned to their position in their own territory, but they did not have to counterattack in order to do so. By the time they returned the Israeli forces were long since back in Israel."

THE ISRAELI spokesman also described a report of a Syrian foray into Israeli territory as "a figment of the imagination." He said, "it can be taken for granted any such attack on Israel by Syrians or anyone else would have been followed by swift repercussions of the most serious kind."

The terrain at El Sabha showed little trace of the battle in which the Israelis claimed they killed 50 Egyptians. The Egyptians said they killed 200 Israelis, a figure the Israeli spokesman have called untrue for days.

Correspondents visiting the Egyptian side of the line saw no guns bigger than mortars. There was no evidence of two Sherman tanks which the Egyptians claimed they had used in the fighting and which the Israelis said had been knocked out.

The only action the correspondents noted in the area yesterday was the explosion of a land mine in the direction of the Israeli positions. No casualties were reported.

WITH OTHER ARAB states offering aid to Egypt if needed to meet an attack, the western big three urged Israel and Egypt to accept a United Nations peace plan for the El Auja sector.

The western moves were made in an effort to avert a renewal of the 1948 Israeli-Arab war. Heightening western fears were Communist moves to penetrate the Middle East through offers of military and economic aid for the Arab states.

THE PEACE plan proposed by UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was said to call for withdrawal of all military personnel from the El Auja zone and the permanent marking of the area's borders.

At UN headquarters in New York, Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban discussed the Middle Eastern situation for 50 minutes with Hammarskjold yesterday. Eban had not received instructions from Jerusalem on a reply to Hammarskjold's peace proposals.

After the talk with the UN secretary general, the ambassador left for Washington to submit a list of arms Israel says it wants from the United States to offset arms Egypt is getting from Communist-governed Czechoslovakia.

IN WASHINGTON, the State Department summoned both Eban and Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein for separate conferences today to discuss Middle East tension with George Allen, U. S. assistant secretary of state for Middle Eastern affairs.

The State Department disclosed officially the Soviet bloc is delivering arms to Egypt by shiploads. The shipments were said to be accompanied by Communist technicians to teach the Egyptians how to use and maintain the new weapons.

a helicopter over to deliver food.

PRIOR TO the time the Rosendale delegation was given an opportunity to testify, the senators suggested that they would give town officials an opportunity to testify first. None were present, however. There were official delegations from the towns of Wawarsing and Rochester.

Mayor Eugene Glusker of Ellenville and the supervisor and town superintendent of highways of the town of Wawarsing were present and testified before the senatorial committee. The delegation from the town of Rochester was headed by Supervisor Burton H. Marshall and included valley vegetable growers, John Schoonmaker and Edward Davenport.

THE DELEGATION to Ellenville for conference with the Army Corps of Engineers was given a warm reception by Arthur H. Lahlum, assistant area engineer, Atlantic Division, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, it was reported.

Mr. Lahlum pointed out that the reason Ellenville had received so much aid from the Corps of Engineers was that there had been official request for such assistance from the town officials.

He said that in the Rosendale folder the only request for aid for the town of Rosendale had come from Mayor Mooney asking for funds to repair holes in James street.

Mrs. James McKay of Alligerville was treated by Dr. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge for a dislocated cervical spine and contusions of the left leg and hip following a two-car collision on Route 32 just south of the Rosendale bridge about 3:30 p. m., according to Kingston State Police.

TROOPER Raymond Kowalsky said Mr. McKay, 44, driving a 1951 sedan, was pulling out of the Herman Marquardt service station when his vehicle was in collision with a 1953 sedan operated by Dewey Hall, 29, of Box 562, Newburgh, traveling south.

Trooper Kowalsky said Mr. Hall saw the McKay car, applied the brakes and skidded into the side of the vehicle.

Arthur Joseph O'Leary, 44, of 23 Lawrenceville road, Rosendale, suffered a cut left hand and complained of back injuries when his 1951 sedan, traveling south on Route 209 just south of Ellenville at 2 p. m., skidded off the highway and hit a retaining wall, it was reported by Troopers H. H. Ganss and K. P. Sokel of the Ellenville State Police. They said Mr. O'Leary skidded when he applied his brakes to avoid an unknown approaching vehicle.

Rowland Schwark, 18, of Port Ewen, suffered back and leg injuries about 11:30 p. m. when a 1946 sedan operated by Henry A. Ike Awaits Montgomery

Denver, Nov. 5 (AP)—The start of his seventh week of hospitalization found President Eisenhower encouragingly better today and happily awaiting a conference with British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery. The two old comrades-in-arms of World War 2 were planning a reunion at 11:30 a. m. (EST) at Fitzsimons Army Hospital where an X-ray examination yesterday disclosed the President's mending heart "remains normal in size." And a 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin today reported: "The President had a good night's sleep of more than seven hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and cheerful, and looking forward to his visit with old friend Field Marshal Lord Montgomery of Alamein. The President's condition continues to be satisfactory."

Winds, Rain Blamed In Tugboat Sinking

High winds and heavy rains which lashed the eastern seaboard yesterday were responsible for the sinking of the Cornell Steamboat Company tug "Cornell" in the Hudson river north of Tarrytown. All members of the crew were saved by a sister ship which rescued the men before the vessel sank opposite Tarrytown Light in the upstream section of Tappan Zee.

The Cornell, commanded by Captain Lawrence Gibbons, 65, of Waterford, sank about 1:30 p. m. while the Cornell and another tug were moving down the river with a string of barges loaded with stone. C. W. Spangenberger is president of the towing firm which has offices at 712 12th avenue, New York. At the time the Cornell was working alongside a barge and was swamped by seas raised by the high winds. Coast guard took immediate steps to mark the wreck, which lies in the channel in about 40 feet of water. The crew was later landed at Pier 80, North river.

"but we're going to take time to get acquainted."

He said material on Bioff—who lived here under the name of William Nelson—is being sent here from several cities and that known acquaintances of the former Hollywood Film Union leader will be questioned anywhere they can be found. The killing has not yet been linked to any gang or person, Edmundson said.

THE BLAST mutilated Bioff's body and threw wreckage over a radius of several hundred feet. It tore a hole in the roof of the garage, shot two chunks of metal into the wall of a home about 100 feet away and shattered windows in several houses.

Bioff's body was blown about 15 feet from the garage. His right leg and right hand were torn off. Small parts of the body were found on the roof of the garage.

BIOFF, who once told a grand jury in New York that he had received more than a million dollars from film producers as a front man for an underworld syndicate, got his start in labor in 1932, when he became chauffeur for the late Mike Galvin, head of the AFL Teamsters Union.

Girl Confirms Mother's Story Of Slaying

Kingsville, Tex., Nov. 5 (AP)—Five-year-old Maria Teresa Canales was reported today to have confirmed her mother's story of the slaying of Don Worden on Padre island.

Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, 42, the wealthy San Antonio woman charged with murder in Worden's death Oct. 22, has said her little daughter was the only other person present at the time.

OFFICERS questioned the curly-haired youngster yesterday but reportedly found her unwilling to talk to strangers. County Atty. Royce C. Johnston said, however, that she did talk to a ranch employe and longtime friend, Beto Gonzales. Johnston said Gonzales quoted the little girl as telling a story which agreed with details of the shooting as given by Mrs. Worden.

Johnston, Sheriff Jim Scarborough and Texas Ranger Joe Bridge went to the Prexides Canales ranch yesterday and talked to Maria Teresa for half an hour. Canales, 52, is the wealthy oil man and rancher from whom Mrs. Worden was divorced Aug. 3, only a month before the woman married Worden at Bend, Ore.

Authorities delved today into the past of Worden, a 43-year-old San Antonio real estate man.

cated he would reject the proposal.

Dulles, Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay held their seventh session yesterday and then broke up until next Tuesday. Thereafter they will have possibly 10 more meetings to go before adjournment of the conference, tentatively set for about Nov. 19.

Since the Russians normally do not make concessions or spectacular moves until after much hard bargaining, the position developed thus far by Molotov is not necessarily final — although he has so far fought hard to defend it. But the ultimate results of the conference cannot be known until the final hour.

WITH THE three-day recess in prospect, all four ministers made plans to quit Geneva.

Molotov left by plane this morning after a three-hour delay because of fog. A Geneva police official said he was told "by the Russians that Mr. Molotov was hurrying to Moscow but would go through Berlin."

Macmillan left for London to confer with the British cabinet on the middle east situation and to take part in a parliamentary debate.

Pinay headed for Paris.

Dulles scheduled a trip to Vienna to attend the postwar reopening of the Vienna State Opera tonight. He will go to the island of Brioni Sunday for a meeting with President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Pyle Warns GOP Republicans Face Battle in '56

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower's administrative assistant warned Republicans last night that "we're in for the fight of a lifetime" in next year's presidential campaign.

Howard Pyle told a banquet session of the Western Republican Conference here that the success of Eisenhower's program has moved the Democrats to desperation.

There are groups, he added at a news conference, working to deliver huge blocs of votes that pose a threat to Republican prospects. He did not identify those groups but spoke of "growing regimentation of voters" as a threat to "our basic political freedom."

PYLE URGED fellow party members to "get out in the streets and preach" Republicanism and what he referred to as the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

But California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, in a speech prepared for delivery at the conference today, hewed closer to the we're-going-to-win theme of other speakers.

All other campaign issues, Knight asserted, are subordinate to those embracing constitutional rights, peace plus prosperity, integrity in leadership and capitalism.

"With those four issues as the cornerstone of our next presidential campaign," he said, "we are assured of support from our American people and victory at the polls in November of next year."

most modern equipment. The easterly end of the building will be completely renovated—with new floors, painting, wallpapering, etc. A new two-inch water line will be installed.

One of the most attractive features of the new laundromat will be a driveway to the rear of the building where parking facilities will be available for approximately 25 cars.

There will also be an "overhang" at the rear of the laundromat where the customer can drive her car. Here she can park momentarily, press a buzzer which will signal an attendant inside. The attendant will come out and take the bundle in. This is particularly useful in case of heavy bundles which are awkward to handle and might impose a strain on the customer, it was pointed out.

ANOTHER innovation in public laundromat operations—also in effect at the Lovejoy Laundromat at 726 Broadway — will enable the customer to leave a bundle of laundry without touching it herself, if she so chooses. An attendant will open the bundle, sort it for colors and materials put the laundry in the machines and take it out when it is finished. All the customer has to do is pick it up.

Shirts and drycleaning can also be left at the laundromat. One-day service is provided and they can be picked up the next day. This special service enables the customer, if she likes, to leave her bundle for the laundromat, plus shirts and drycleaning, on one day and pick it all up the next day.

Bloomington Vols Praised For Flood Work

Two Creek Locks residents, in a letter to The Freeman, have praised unstintingly the work of the Bloomington Fire Department during the October flood.

Mrs. Sylvester Smith and Mrs. Konrad Hoppe said "efforts made by our volunteer firemen to save both lives and property are of a magnitude not easily overlooked."

THE WOMEN praised the volunteers for the expediency with which they answered the flood alarm and for the services they performed in rescue work and tasks "above and beyond the call of duty."

"That there was no panic, no confusion and no loss of life is due wholly to the magnificent work of the volunteers. We of the Creek Locks area are deeply indebted to our volunteer fire department and extremely grateful for their unsurpassed efforts in our behalf," the letter said.

Snow Is Reported In Nearby Areas

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—As much as four inches of snow was reported early today in the eastern parts of Rensselaer and Columbia counties, along the Massachusetts and Vermont state lines.

Rensselaer county sheriff's deputies said from two to four inches had falled near Grafton and Petersburg. Several cars were stalled for a time on Route 2 until a sanding truck arrived.

STATE POLICE said about three inches was reported between Claverack and Hillsdale in Columbia county. They urged that unnecessary travel be avoided in that area.

It was the first measurable snow of the season in eastern New York. Rain mixed with snow was forecast for the area.

The weather bureau in Albany said rain was continuing in the lower Hudson Valley. Western New York was clear of precipitation and the forecast was for variable cloudiness.

hower many times but that "he was elected . . . to serve a four-year term and should be allowed to do so without such sadistic suggestions . . ."

In a speech at Dayton, Ohio, last night, Kefauver said Eisenhower's "great crusade has bogged down in a sorry mess of deals and favoritism." The Tennessean called for dismissal of administration appointees whose ethical standards he questioned.

But Kefauver noted that Eisenhower is ill and said the President probably hadn't read about the latest of these cases. He demanded to know what the Eisenhower "team" was going to do about it, without calling on Eisenhower himself to act.

Republicans are generally confident that if Eisenhower isn't himself a candidate, he will give active campaign support to the nominee. Virtually all GOP leaders agree that their nominee will have to run on the Eisenhower record.

keepsie, N. Y., visiting at her mother's home on Route 5 near the crash scene, said she heard an airplane engine sputtering and then a splash in the river.

She said that about 10 minutes later a barefooted survivor appeared at the house and asked her to get the police. She quoted the unidentified man as saying, "there is a Negro on the plane who cannot swim."

Don Curtiss, a Holyoke businessman and former air force pilot, said the plane circled over his home and then he heard both engines "sputtering, backfiring and spitting."

Rescue operations, which continued until 3 a. m. and then were halted until daybreak, were hampered by yesterday's heavy rain which washed out sections of Route 5 leading to the crash scene.

Capt. Nichols was found walking along railroad tracks near the river bank by American League Baseball Umpire Edwin (Ed) Hurley, a resident of Holyoke, and Paul Donahue, Springfield Union photographer. They took him to Providence Hospital, Holyoke.

officials within the next few days a list of weapons Israel wants from the United States. Secretary of State Dulles has promised "sympathetic consideration" of the request for arms, which Israel says are needed to offset Communist shipments to Egypt.

THE DEPARTMENT officially disclosed for the first time that the Soviet bloc is delivering military supplies to Egypt by the shiploads and that Communist technicians are going along.

Press Officer Lincoln White said he had no details on the shipments other than that "several shiploads" have arrived. Nor could he say whether it was Russian or Czech experts, or both, who were on the scene.

EGYPT'S ARMS deal reportedly involves an 80-million-dollar swap of cotton for guns, tanks, jet planes and submarines from Czechoslovakia. The United States fears the arrangement will not only arouse Israel but will extend Communist influence in the area through possibly hundreds of technicians being sent along. Egypt's Premier Gamal Nasser says he can hold down the number of technicians to a safe level.

See Soviet Move

Moscow, Nov. 5 (AP)—Western circles here speculated today that a sudden stoppage in repatriation of German war prisoners was a Soviet pressure move to induce West Germany to speed up establishment of diplomatic relations. Reports from Germany said of 9,626 prisoners due to be sent home, only 6,200 had arrived so far, and none had been seen since Oct. 22.

Israeli Attack

to restore peace before the flames of battle spread beyond the trigger-happy Israeli-Arab border.

FIFTY MILES south of Gaza, fresh Egyptian troops dug in around their checkpost atop the El Sabha plateau in the demilitarized El Auja-Nizana zone, scene of a 17-hour battle between Israelis and Egyptians Thursday. In referring to the El Sabha post the Egyptians and Israelis seem to be talking about two different places on the same plateau, which is crossed by the border.

Recapitulating that battle—described as the worst since 1948—the Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said: "In order to expel Egyptian troops entrenched in Israel an Irsaeli battalion had to get the Egyptians out of a supporting position in their own territory. Having done that, the Irsaeli force cleared the Egyptians out of Israel.

"The Egyptians have no doubt since returned to their position in their own territory, but they did not have to counterattack in order to do so. By the time they returned the Israeli forces were long since back in Israel."

THE ISRAELI spokesman also described a report of a Syrian foray into Israeli territory as "a figment of the imagination." He said, "it can be taken for granted any such attack on Israel by Syrians or anyone else would have been followed by swift repercussions of the most serious kind."

The terrain at El Sabha showed little trace of the battle in which the Israelis claimed they killed 50 Egyptians. The Egyptians said they killed 200 Israelis, a figure the Israeli spokesman have called untrue for days.

Correspondents visiting the Egyptian side of the line saw no guns bigger than mortars. There was no evidence of two Sherman tanks which the Egyptians claimed they had used in the fighting and which the Israelis said had been knocked out.

The only action the correspondents noted in the area yesterday was the explosion of a land mine in the direction of the Israeli positions. No casualties were reported.

WITH OTHER ARAB states offering aid to Egypt if needed to meet an attack, the western big three urged Israel and Egypt to accept a United Nations peace plan for the El Auja sector.

The western moves were made in an effort to avert a renewal of the 1948 Israeli-Arab war. Heightening western fears were Communist moves to penetrate the Middle East through offers of military and economic aid for the Arab states.

THE PEACE plan proposed by UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was said to call for withdrawal of all military personnel from the El Auja zone and the permanent marking of the area's borders.

At UN headquarters in New York, Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban discussed the Middle Eastern situation for 50 minutes with Hammarskjold yesterday. Eban had not received instructions from Jerusalem on a reply to Hammarskjold's peace proposals.

After the talk with the UN secretary general, the ambassador left for Washington to submit a list of arms Israel says it wants from the United States to offset arms Egypt is getting from Communist-governed Czechoslovakia.

IN WASHINGTON, the State Department summoned both Eban and Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein for separate conferences today to discuss Middle East tension with George Allen, U. S. assistant secretary of state for Middle Eastern affairs.

The State Department disclosed officially the Soviet bloc is delivering arms to Egypt by shiploads. The shipments were said to be accompanied by Communist technicians to teach the Egyptians how to use and maintain the new weapons.

a helicopter over to deliver food.

PRIOR TO the time the Rosendale delegation was given an opportunity to testify, the senators suggested that they would give town officials an opportunity to testify first. None were present, however. There were official delegations from the towns of Wawarsing and Rochester.

Mayor Eugene Glusker of Ellenville and the supervisor and town superintendent of highways of the town of Wawarsing were present and testified before the senatorial committee. The delegation from the town of Rochester was headed by Supervisor Burton H. Marshall and included valley vegetable growers, John Schoonmaker and Edward Davenport.

THE DELEGATION to Ellenville for conference with the Army Corps of Engineers was given a warm reception by Arthur H. Lahlum, assistant area engineer, Atlantic Division, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, it was reported.

Mr. Lahlum pointed out that the reason Ellenville had received so much aid from the Corps of Engineers was that there had been official request for such assistance from the town officials.

He said that in the Rosendale folder the only request for aid for the town of Rosendale had come from Mayor Mooney asking for funds to repair holes in James street.

Nine Hurt . . .

Mr. Quick, it was reported.

Mr. Lare suffered a fractured right kneecap and lacerations of the face. Mr. Quick had a scratch over the eye, troopers said.

Troopers said the roads were wet and visibility poor due to fog.

Mrs. James McKay of Alligerville was treated by Dr. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge for a dislocated cervical spine and contusions of the left leg and hip following a two-car collision on Route 32 just south of the Rosendale bridge about 3:30 p. m., according to Kingston State Police.

TROOPER Raymond Kowalsky said Mr. McKay, 44, driving a 1951 sedan, was pulling out of the Herman Marquardt service station when his vehicle was in collision with a 1953 sedan operated by Dewey Hall, 29, of Box 562, Newburgh, traveling south.

Trooper Kowalsky said Mr. Hall saw the McKay car, applied the brakes and skidded into the side of the vehicle.

Arthur Joseph O'Leary, 44, of 23 Lawrenceville road, Rosendale, suffered a cut left hand and complained of back injuries when his 1951 sedan, traveling south on Route 209 just south of Ellenville at 2 p. m., skidded off the highway and hit a retaining wall, it was reported by Troopers H. H. Ganss and K. P. Sokel of the Ellenville State Police. They said Mr. O'Leary skidded when he applied his brakes to avoid an unknown approaching vehicle.

Rowland Schwark, 18, of Port Ewen, suffered back and leg injuries about 11:30 p. m. when a 1946 sedan operated by Henry A. Rowles, 31, of 13 Meadow street, Kingston, skidded on wet pavement on Canal street, Port Ewen, turned over twice, hit a white fence and entered a ditch, according to a report in the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Deputy Delbert Sapp arrested Mr. Rowles as an unlicensed operator. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr., Port Ewen, and fined $25.

Second Albany Death

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The city's second automobile fatality within nine hours came today when Frank T. Ryan, 57, of (107 Eagle street), Albany, was struck by an automobile as he crossed a street. Henry Martin Stoll, 27, of Albany, who police said was the driver, was arrested on charges of criminal negligence in the operation of an automobile and drunken driving. Last night another pedestrian, Maj. Harold A. Murch (ret), 67, principal mail and supply clerk in the state adjutant general's office, was injured fatally on a downtown street.

Ike Awaits Montgomery

Denver, Nov. 5 (AP)—The start of his seventh week of hospitalization found President Eisenhower encouragingly better today and happily awaiting a conference with British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery. The two old comrades-in-arms of World War 2 were planning a reunion at 11:30 a. m. (EST) at Fitzsimons Army Hospital where an X-ray examination yesterday disclosed the President's mending heart "remains normal in size." And a 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin today reported: "The President had a good night's sleep of more than seven hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and cheerful, and looking forward to his visit with old friend Field Marshal Lord Montgomery of Alamein. The President's condition continues to be satisfactory."

Winds, Rain Blamed In Tugboat Sinking

High winds and heavy rains which lashed the eastern seaboard yesterday were responsible for the sinking of the Cornell Steamboat Company tug "Cornell" in the Hudson river north of Tarrytown. All members of the crew were saved by a sister ship which rescued the men before the vessel sank opposite Tarrytown Light in the upstream section of Tappan Zee.

The Cornell, commanded by Captain Lawrence Gibbons, 65, of Waterford, sank about 1:30 p. m. while the Cornell and another tug were moving down the river with a string of barges loaded with stone. C. W. Spangenberger is president of the towing firm which has offices at 712 12th avenue, New York. At the time the Cornell was working alongside a barge and was swamped by seas raised by the high winds. Coast guard took immediate steps to mark the wreck, which lies in the channel in about 40 feet of water. The crew was later landed at Pier 80, North river.

"but we're going to take time to get acquainted."

He said material on Bioff—who lived here under the name of William Nelson—is being sent here from several cities and that known acquaintances of the former Hollywood Film Union leader will be questioned anywhere they can be found. The killing has not yet been linked to any gang or person, Edmundson said.

THE BLAST mutilated Bioff's body and threw wreckage over a radius of several hundred feet. It tore a hole in the roof of the garage, shot two chunks of metal into the wall of a home about 100 feet away and shattered windows in several houses.

Bioff's body was blown about 15 feet from the garage. His right leg and right hand were torn off. Small parts of the body were found on the roof of the garage.

BIOFF, who once told a grand jury in New York that he had received more than a million dollars from film producers as a front man for an underworld syndicate, got his start in labor in 1932, when he became chauffeur for the late Mike Galvin, head of the AFL Teamsters Union.

Girl Confirms Mother's Story Of Slaying

Kingsville, Tex., Nov. 5 (AP)—Five-year-old Maria Teresa Canales was reported today to have confirmed her mother's story of the slaying of Don Worden on Padre island.

Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, 42, the wealthy San Antonio woman charged with murder in Worden's death Oct. 22, has said her little daughter was the only other person present at the time.

OFFICERS questioned the curly-haired youngster yesterday but reportedly found her unwilling to talk to strangers. County Atty. Royce C. Johnston said, however, that she did talk to a ranch employe and longtime friend, Beto Gonzales. Johnston said Gonzales quoted the little girl as telling a story which agreed with details of the shooting as given by Mrs. Worden.

Johnston, Sheriff Jim Scarborough and Texas Ranger Joe Bridge went to the Prexides Canales ranch yesterday and talked to Maria Teresa for half an hour. Canales, 52, is the wealthy oil man and rancher from whom Mrs. Worden was divorced Aug. 3, only a month before the woman married Worden at Bend, Ore.

Authorities delved today into the past of Worden, a 43-year-old San Antonio real estate man.

cated he would reject the proposal.

Dulles, Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay held their seventh session yesterday and then broke up until next Tuesday. Thereafter they will have possibly 10 more meetings to go before adjournment of the conference, tentatively set for about Nov. 19.

Since the Russians normally do not make concessions or spectacular moves until after much hard bargaining, the position developed thus far by Molotov is not necessarily final — although he has so far fought hard to defend it. But the ultimate results of the conference cannot be known until the final hour.

WITH THE three-day recess in prospect, all four ministers made plans to quit Geneva.

Molotov left by plane this morning after a three-hour delay because of fog. A Geneva police official said he was told "by the Russians that Mr. Molotov was hurrying to Moscow but would go through Berlin."

Macmillan left for London to confer with the British cabinet on the middle east situation and to take part in a parliamentary debate.

Pinay headed for Paris.

Dulles scheduled a trip to Vienna to attend the postwar reopening of the Vienna State Opera tonight. He will go to the island of Brioni Sunday for a meeting with President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Pyle Warns GOP Republicans Face Battle in '56

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower's administrative assistant warned Republicans last night that "we're in for the fight of a lifetime" in next year's presidential campaign.

Howard Pyle told a banquet session of the Western Republican Conference here that the success of Eisenhower's program has moved the Democrats to desperation.

There are groups, he added at a news conference, working to deliver huge blocs of votes that pose a threat to Republican prospects. He did not identify those groups but spoke of "growing regimentation of voters" as a threat to "our basic political freedom."

PYLE URGED fellow party members to "get out in the streets and preach" Republicanism and what he referred to as the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

But California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, in a speech prepared for delivery at the conference today, hewed closer to the we're-going-to-win theme of other speakers.

All other campaign issues, Knight asserted, are subordinate to those embracing constitutional rights, peace plus prosperity, integrity in leadership and capitalism.

"With those four issues as the cornerstone of our next presidential campaign," he said, "we are assured of support from our American people and victory at the polls in November of next year."

most modern equipment. The easterly end of the building will be completely renovated—with new floors, painting, wallpapering, etc. A new two-inch water line will be installed.

One of the most attractive features of the new laundromat will be a driveway to the rear of the building where parking facilities will be available for approximately 25 cars.

There will also be an "overhang" at the rear of the laundromat where the customer can drive her car. Here she can park momentarily, press a buzzer which will signal an attendant inside. The attendant will come out and take the bundle in. This is particularly useful in case of heavy bundles which are awkward to handle and might impose a strain on the customer, it was pointed out.

ANOTHER innovation in public laundromat operations—also in effect at the Lovejoy Laundromat at 726 Broadway — will enable the customer to leave a bundle of laundry without touching it herself, if she so chooses. An attendant will open the bundle, sort it for colors and materials put the laundry in the machines and take it out when it is finished. All the customer has to do is pick it up.

Shirts and drycleaning can also be left at the laundromat. One-day service is provided and they can be picked up the next day. This special service enables the customer, if she likes, to leave her bundle for the laundromat, plus shirts and drycleaning, on one day and pick it all up the next day.

Bloomington Vols Praised For Flood Work

Two Creek Locks residents, in a letter to The Freeman, have praised unstintingly the work of the Bloomington Fire Department during the October flood.

Mrs. Sylvester Smith and Mrs. Konrad Hoppe said "efforts made by our volunteer firemen to save both lives and property are of a magnitude not easily overlooked."

THE WOMEN praised the volunteers for the expediency with which they answered the flood alarm and for the services they performed in rescue work and tasks "above and beyond the call of duty."

"That there was no panic, no confusion and no loss of life is due wholly to the magnificent work of the volunteers. We of the Creek Locks area are deeply indebted to our volunteer fire department and extremely grateful for their unsurpassed efforts in our behalf," the letter said.

Snow Is Reported In Nearby Areas

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—As much as four inches of snow was reported early today in the eastern parts of Rensselaer and Columbia counties, along the Massachusetts and Vermont state lines.

Rensselaer county sheriff's deputies said from two to four inches had falled near Grafton and Petersburg. Several cars were stalled for a time on Route 2 until a sanding truck arrived.

STATE POLICE said about three inches was reported between Claverack and Hillsdale in Columbia county. They urged that unnecessary travel be avoided in that area.

It was the first measurable snow of the season in eastern New York. Rain mixed with snow was forecast for the area.

The weather bureau in Albany said rain was continuing in the lower Hudson Valley. Western New York was clear of precipitation and the forecast was for variable cloudiness.

But Kefauver noted that Eisenhower is ill and said the President probably hadn't read about the latest of these cases. He demanded to know what the Eisenhower "team" was going to do about it, without calling on Eisenhower himself to act.

Republicans are generally confident that if Eisenhower isn't himself a candidate, he will give active campaign support to the nominee. Virtually all GOP leaders agree that their nominee will have to run on the Eisenhower record.

keepsie, N. Y., visiting at her mother's home on Route 5 near the crash scene, said she heard an airplane engine sputtering and then a splash in the river.

She said that about 10 minutes later a barefooted survivor appeared at the house and asked her to get the police. She quoted the unidentified man as saying, "there is a Negro on the plane who cannot swim."

Don Curtiss, a Holyoke businessman and former air force pilot, said the plane circled over his home and then he heard both engines "sputtering, backfiring and spitting."

Rescue operations, which continued until 3 a. m. and then were halted until daybreak, were hampered by yesterday's heavy rain which washed out sections of Route 5 leading to the crash scene.

Capt. Nichols was found walking along railroad tracks near the river bank by American League Baseball Umpire Edwin (Ed) Hurley, a resident of Holyoke, and Paul Donahue, Springfield Union photographer. They took him to Providence Hospital, Holyoke.

officials within the next few days a list of weapons Israel wants from the United States. Secretary of State Dulles has promised "sympathetic consideration" of the request for arms, which Israel says are needed to offset Communist shipments to Egypt.

THE DEPARTMENT officially disclosed for the first time that the Soviet bloc is delivering military supplies to Egypt by the shiploads and that Communist technicians are going along.

Press Officer Lincoln White said he had no details on the shipments other than that "several shiploads" have arrived. Nor could he say whether it was Russian or Czech experts, or both, who were on the scene.

EGYPT'S ARMS deal reportedly involves an 80-million-dollar swap of cotton for guns, tanks, jet planes and submarines from Czechoslovakia. The United States fears the arrangement will not only arouse Israel but will extend Communist influence in the area through possibly hundreds of technicians being sent along. Egypt's Premier Gamal Nasser says he can hold down the number of technicians to a safe level.

WHAT'S NEXT FOR THE SAAR?

No responsible Western diplomats are pretending it was not a setback to Western solidarity to have the rich industrial Saar region on the German-French border emphatically vote down proposed internationalization of the area.

But we can be moderately reassured by the fact that neither German Chancellor Adenauer nor Premier Faure of France chose to read disaster in this unhappy outcome of the Saar plebiscite. They exchanged expressions of good will. They promised to work for continued good relations between Germany and France, and for general European unity.

This now will be more difficult of achievement.

The French had insisted on Europeanizing the Saar as a price for their support of German rearmament and admission to NATO. The tiny Saar long has been the subject of German claims and French counterclaims. International control was the only solution the French would accept short of the Saar's unification with France itself.

French leaders and Adenauer had agreed on this answer, and both French and German parliaments had endorsed it formally. But the citizens of the Saar said "no," thereby upsetting all the well-laid plans.

What now?

Presumably the Saar will continue for a while at least in its present status: an economic union with France but a government largely free of either French or German control.

The Saar population, mostly German, voted for this economic arrangement two years after World War II. In legislative elections of 1952 the overwheiming majority favored continuing the union and also endorsed political Europeanization.

In the latest plebiscite it has not voted to end the economic tie with France, but seems to have reversed itself on the issue of internationalizing. A heavy pressure campaign by narrow German nationalists undoubtedly had much to do with the result.

There certainly is no likelihood that in the light of this vote the Saar will soon be attached again to Germany, as it was before World War I and then from 1935 through World War II.

If Western diplomats have any bright ideas left after this debacle at the polls, they are not yet revealing them. France over recent years has made it eminently clear how firm is its resistance to the return of the Saar to Germany. By this plebiscite, the nationalist Germans who made their weight felt in the Saar have made equally plain their determination not to let the prize slip permanently from their grasp.

It is a real stalemate, and a challenge to Western leaders who wish to preserve and enhance the strength of the free Western alliance.

People who succeed are usually those who regard work as a pleasure. Enjoy what you do, and others will enjoy what you produce.

TRIP TO THE MOON

A Cincinnati public utilities corporation has announced a contest in which the first prize will be a trip to the moon. The company affirms that it is serious, and has checked as to the feasibility of the project with astronomers and missile experts.

The catch is that they do not promise to deliver the trip when the winner is announced. He might have to wait 20 years or more. In compensation he can settle for $1,000 instead.

Contestants would probably also like to know whether the lunar voyage is one way or round trip.

'These Days'

THE CALL TO DUTY

I dare not say that a woman should not marry the man she loves, but it is refreshing as springtime to witness a response to a call to duty. Margaret of England will be beloved by her people not because she gave up the man of her choice but because she sacrificed personal happiness to maintain a way of life which her family is duty-bound to defend.

After all, millions of young men are dead and buried because they answered the call to duty, often with less knowledge of the reasons for the call than Margaret has. She is a brave girl, but even more, an idealistic girl who accepts the responsibility of royalty, which in the British sense is to set an example of the proprieties of life.

Her grandfather and father labored valiantly in this field and saved not only a crown but a union of free and independent nations. And they did it without force or power, for they really have none, but by the virtue of their lives and the respect the people have for them. And now this respect goes to Margaret, for her sacrifice is very great and at an early age.

In this era in which marriage is being reduced to a matter of registration and the word romance is becoming, in common parlance, equivalent to harlotry, the clean courtship, the honorable decision, the unwillingness to yield principle to personal satisfaction stand out in pristine beauty and all who were engaged in what could have been an ugly pursuit of passion will be glorified among their own people as restoring the virtuous qualities of duty and respect.

It could even occur that in the course of events these lovers might find happiness, but they have acted well and have reached a conclusion that is right because it is dutiful and therefore noble.

This middle of the 20th century has to an astonishing degree become an era of decadence and debauchery and the characteristic is almost universal. The most famed women are expensive courtesans who are press-agented and photographed until even children know their names and their so-called romances and multiple marriages, and hang their pictures upon their walls, perhaps as inspiration to go and do likewise. And against this mob of underbred, highly-paid votaries of the physical body, stands Margaret who answered the call to duty. And the contrast is so great that it turns the revellers, whom Igor Cassini correctly named the "Jet-Set," into unpalatable creatures who, in pursuit of pleasure, sacrifice not themselves but so much that is decent and noble in human nature.

Saints live to give example to good and righteous living, and no matter what she may suffer, Margaret will not fail to realize that she, who loves to sing and dance and be gay, has set an example of dutiful living which may put a period to the ugly excesses of those who, possessing wealth and position, do not know how to use them. Perhaps her answer to the call to duty may put an end to multiple marriage which is, after all, a form of concubinage and produces vicious results in society. As those on the Summit do, so do those at the bottom.

The wage-earner copies the models' clothes and manners, and manners are the external manifestation of morals. When a society loses the morals of its tradition, it withers on the vine because its vitality disappears.

I think of those American so-called heiresses chasing about the world purchasing husbands, paying men alimony after they divorce them, producing public scandals by the brazenness of their conduct and shaming their country and civilization, and then I think of Margaret answering the call of duty.

I cannot but wonder what these heiresses have inherited. Surely it is not a sence of devoted motherhood. Surely it is not the virtues of the Judaic-Christian civilization. Surely it is not the strength of the pioneer women who helped to build America, their own grandmothers who assisted in the building of the very fortunes which they now squander in roistering without sufficient shame to shut their doors and pull the blinds over their windows.

Margaret has rebuked them all and maybe our world, by this example, will return to a regard for duty in all its manifestations.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MANAGEMENT OF CERVICAL DISK SYNDROME

Yesterday we discussed the signs and symptoms of cervical disk conditions (upper seven vertebrae in the spine) and we will go on today to some of the current methods of treatment as reported by Professor David Cleveland in Postgraduate Medicine. In general, the treatment of the cervical syndrome (group of symptoms) depends on the type and duration of symptoms; no one plan will cover all cases. Traction (the act of drawing or pulling) and physiotherapy generally make up the most helpful forms of treatment.

"There is some difference of opinion among physicians as to the most suitable type of traction but head traction in the neutral or very slightly bent position is most efficient. The purpose of traction is to spread the space between the vertebrae and widen the little canals which hold the nerve roots. Traction may be used continuously or intermittently. When possible, hospitalization with continuous traction for a period of a few days to two weeks is desirable. In this way, needed rest and relaxation are obtained along with relief of pain. After hospitalization has been completed the patient is given intermittent traction for ten minute periods three times a week. They can be taught to apply their own traction by a pulley, block and tackle arrangement, which can be set up in the patient's own home. X-ray examination is made once a month during the period of active treatment."

When the patient is up and about, postural exercises and training are extremely important. Stooping or round-shouldered position should be corrected by bracing or postural training. Sleeping with a contour pillow or rolled blanket under the neck is helpful. Heat and massage to the muscles of the neck and shoulders aid in reducing the pain and discomfort of muscle spasm and allow relaxation. Drugs are seldom necessary for this purpose although aspirin or aspirin with small amounts of codeine added is occasionally necessary for pain relief. ACTH and cortisone are rarely needed.

When the above treatment or a similar one is used early and adequately, operation is seldom necessary. However, sometimes protruded disk fragments compressing either the spinal cord or the nerve roots require removal by surgery. Also, traction may aggravate these symptoms as its action is similar to tightening a violin string over the protruded disk. Compression of the nerve root by calcified spurs forming on the vertebrae often can be relieved only by surgical operation. The surgery, however, is one that requires considerable experience and utmost care and caution.

"In summary, surgical treatment for the cervical syndrome is generally a last resort and should be used only after nonsurgical treatment fails."

We should keep in mind that if we have the symptoms of cervical disk syndrome, we should seek help early and not allow it to become chronic or to progress. Early treatment by other than surgical means is usually successful.

Don't Worry About the Ghosts---Watch the Live Ones

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Thoroughly alarmed by the political dangers of sagging farm prices, the Republican administration is now planning to spend hundreds of millions of dollars to win back the farm vote.

This is the real significance of the six-point supplementary farm program announced by President Eisenhower at Denver after his conference with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Politically, this new Republican farm program has the effect of being a counterproposal to offset the stand taken by Democratic leaders Adlai E. Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman and others in favor of 90 per cent price supports.

SO WHILE SPOKESMEN for both parties may deny it, the race is on to see which party can promise farmers the most. It is a shameless bid by both to buy the farm vote. That this rivalry comes a year ahead of next election day is a record.

It is the decline in farm income and the rise in the cost of things farmers buy that spark this early political auction. Republican leaders realize they can't afford to sacrifice a single congressional seat next year—even for a principle.

Details of the new Benson program will be unfolded gradually. The plan to buy canned meats, cured hams and lard is merely a first step. The plan to buy surplus U. S. sugar is second. The full program won't be known until Congress reconvenes in January.

SOME ADMINISTRATION officials believe that the Secretary of Agriculture has ample authority under present law to put new policies into operation. Benson himself does not think so. He will therefore wait on congressional approval before getting too far out on a limb.

Any new program requiring additional money will, of course, require a congressional appropriation. This year Congress thought the secretary didn't ask for enough money and forced more on him. What Congress will do with new farm legislation if present law is thrown open for amendment is anybody's guess.

The grand total of all money available to Department of Agriculture this year is, in round numbers, a staggering 3.7 billion dollars. It includes a two-billion-dollar increase (to 12 billion dollars) for crop loans and 388 million dollars for electrification and farm home loans.

It also includes 30 per cent of all customs receipts, an estimated 195 million dollars for purchasing temporary surplus perishables that affect the market. The 85-million-dollar pork purchase money comes out of this.

The Department of Agriculture's other programs get 787 million dollars in direct appropriations for this year.

UNDER the new program, the 98-million-dollar research program will be stepped up by an as yet unknown amount.

The 295-million-dollar soil and agricultural conservation programs will be stepped up. If this involves taking 10 per cent of America's 350 million acres out of production by a subsidy of $10 an acre, it would cost 350 million dollars more a year.

Expanding aid to low-income farm families can cost as much as Congress wants to put into it.

The government now has over seven billion dollars' worth of surpluses. This includes 2.6 billion dollars' worth of wheat and 1.4 billion dollars' worth of corn. Selling this for feed at only 10 per cent loss would cost three hundred million dollars.

Nobody has estimated the cost of trying to get the "suitcase" farmers out of production on marginal lands in the dust bowl.

But the total cost for this new Benson supplementary farm program could reach one billion dollars.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP)—Marjorie Smith, 34, today enjoyed her first day of freedom since she was arrested April 22 for the murder of her husband. And Victor Laurence Wolf, the man who tried his best — and failed — to send her to the state gas chamber, pondered his fate in a jail cell. Mrs. Smith, a trim, attractive brunette, who was charged with masterminding the April 21 auto bomb death of her 34-year-old attorney husband, said the first thing she wanted to do was get back her children—Susan, 3 and Greg, 11. They have been cared for by relatives since her arrest on a first degree murder charge.

Specific Plan Is Lacking

Disaster Insurance May Come Out of '56 Congress Session

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—Some kind of insurance against disasters — at least against floods like these which followed the visit of Hurricane Diane — may come out of Congress in 1956.

But before Congress approves such protection, it will have to cut its way through three questions which are now very tangled: What kind of disaster insurance? How much insurance for any one individual? And who handles it?

THIS WEEK the Senate Banking Committee has been holding hearings to find out what government officials propose. None of them has provided a specific plan yet. They promise to have one by the time Congress returns in January.

There is no flood insurance available in this country now, although this fact seemed once again to have been lost sight of until the floods broke loose in New England last August when Diane let the enormous rains loose.

AS A RESULT of those floods 179 persons were killed, 6,992 were injured, 813 homes were destroyed, and the damage amounted to more than 450 million dollars.

One of the reasons for the lack of flood insurance, it seems, is the scattered, but nevertheless limited, nature of the problem. The only ones who would want or need it would be those living near streams or rivers which might boil over.

People living on high ground in the area wouldn't need it. Just because that type of insurance would be limited, the price of it would be high if private companies handled it, perhaps out of reach of those who needed it.

THEN THERE is the problem of occurrence that a private company would have to consider: How often would a stream or river be expected to overflow as a result of natural phenomenon, like extraordinarily heavy rains?

Say it was figured that on River AAA, after a search of the records, a flood could be expected on an average of every 50 years. That might seem like a good insurance risk.

Bu suppose River AAA flooded three times in 150 years—still sticking to the average of one flood every 50 years—but those three floods came in 1956, again in 1957, and the third time in 1958.

THE THREE FLOODS, bunched together like that, might wreck a company. But how then can flood insurance be provided? At the hearings there were two proposals offered although they may not be the ones finally decided upon by Congress.

One would have the government do the insuring; the other would guarantee the losses of private insurance companies over a certain amount.

It seemed agreed that no one, and no business firm, could get any amount of insurance he wanted. Sen. Lehman (D.-N.Y.), who presided at the hearings, talked of a possible limit of $300,000 per company.

Then there was another question: Should the insurance cover not only a man's home but his furniture and other personal belongings, too? The sentiment at the hearings leaned toward coverage for real property, not personal possessions.

But should the insurance cover only homes and business buildings and the merchandise and equipment in those buildings? Or should it cover other things, like a farmer's crops, those still in the field and those already in storage?

ONE OF THE toughest problems for the flood victims—in facing the future—is in paying the mortgage still owned on the house which was swept away. Congress will also have to consider that, too.

President Eisenhower has assured New England governors his administration is determined "to assist the states and people of the northeast in developing adequate protections against future flood and hurricane losses."

But any insurance program approved by Congress — even though, perhaps, it is limited to floods—would cover the whole country.

WHAT'S NEXT FOR THE SAAR?

No responsible Western diplomats are pretending it was not a setback to Western solidarity to have the rich industrial Saar region on the German-French border emphatically vote down proposed internationalization of the area.

But we can be moderately reassured by the fact that neither German Chancellor Adenauer nor Premier Faure of France chose to read disaster in this unhappy outcome of the Saar plebiscite. They exchanged expressions of good will. They promised to work for continued good relations between Germany and France, and for general European unity.

This now will be more difficult of achievement.

The French had insisted on Europeanizing the Saar as a price for their support of German rearmament and admission to NATO. The tiny Saar long has been the subject of German claims and French counterclaims. International control was the only solution the French would accept short of the Saar's unification with France itself.

French leaders and Adenauer had agreed on this answer, and both French and German parliaments had endorsed it formally. But the citizens of the Saar said "no," thereby upsetting all the well-laid plans.

What now?

Presumably the Saar will continue for a while at least in its present status: an economic union with France but a government largely free of either French or German control.

The Saar population, mostly German, voted for this economic arrangement two years after World War II. In legislative elections of 1952 the overwhelming majority favored continuing the union and also endorsed political Europeanization.

In the latest plebiscite it has not voted to end the economic tie with France, but seems to have reversed itself on the issue of internationalizing. A heavy pressure campaign by narrow German nationalists undoubtedly had much to do with the result.

There certainly is no likelihood that in the light of this vote the Saar will soon be attached again to Germany, as it was before World War I and then from 1935 through World War II.

If Western diplomats have any bright ideas left after this debacle at the polls, they are not yet revealing them. France over recent years has made it eminently clear how firm is its resistance to the return of the Saar to Germany. By this plebiscite, the nationalist Germans who made their weight felt in the Saar have made equally plain their determination not to let the prize slip permanently from their grasp.

It is a real stalemate, and a challenge to Western leaders who wish to preserve and enhance the strength of the free Western alliance.

People who succeed are usually those who regard work as a pleasure. Enjoy what you do, and others will enjoy what you produce.

TRIP TO THE MOON

A Cincinnati public utilities corporation has announced a contest in which the first prize will be a trip to the moon. The company affirms that it is serious, and has checked as to the feasibility of the project with astronomers and missile experts.

The catch is that they do not promise to deliver the trip when the winner is announced. He might have to wait 20 years or more. In compensation he can settle for $1,000 instead.

Contestants would probably also like to know whether the lunar voyage is one way or round trip.

Most housewives will gladly let their husbands have the last word—as long as it is "Yes".

A reputation is built not so much on things done, as upon good things done repeatedly.

THE CALL TO DUTY

I dare not say that a woman should not marry the man she loves, but it is refreshing as springtime to witness a response to a call to duty. Margaret of England will be beloved by her people not because she gave up the man of her choice but because she sacrificed personal happiness to maintain a way of life which her family is duty-bound to defend.

After all, millions of young men are dead and buried because they answered the call to duty, often with less knowledge of the reasons for the call than Margaret has. She is a brave girl, but even more, an idealistic girl who accepts the responsibility of royalty, which in the British sense is to set an example of the proprieties of life.

Her grandfather and father labored valiantly in this field and saved not only a crown but a union of free and independent nations. And they did it without force or power, for they really have none, but by the virtue of their lives and the respect the people have for them. And now this respect goes to Margaret, for her sacrifice is very great and at an early age.

In this era in which marriage is being reduced to a matter of registration and the word romance is becoming, in common parlance, equivalent to harlotry, the clean courtship, the honorable decision, the unwillingness to yield principle to personal satisfaction stand out in pristine beauty and all who were engaged in what could have been an ugly pursuit of passion will be glorified among their own people as restoring the virtuous qualities of duty and respect.

It could even occur that in the course of events these lovers might find happiness, but they have acted well and have reached a conclusion that is right because it is dutiful and therefore noble.

This middle of the 20th century has to an astonishing degree become an era of decadence and debauchery and the characteristic is almost universal. The most famed women are expensive courtesans who are press-agented and photographed until even children know their names and their so-called romances and multiple marriages, and hang their pictures upon their walls, perhaps as inspiration to go and do likewise. And against this mob of underbred, highly-paid votaries of the physical body, stands Margaret who answered the call to duty. And the contrast is so great that it turns the revellers, whom Igor Cassini correctly named the "Jet-Set," into unpalatable creatures who, in pursuit of pleasure, sacrifice not themselves but so much that is decent and noble in human nature.

Saints live to give example to good and righteous living, and no matter what she may suffer, Margaret will not fail to realize that she, who loves to sing and dance and be gay, has set an example of dutiful living which may put a period to the ugly excesses of those who, possessing wealth and position, do not know how to use them. Perhaps her answer to the call to duty may put an end to multiple marriage which is, after all, a form of concubinage and produces vicious results in society. As those on the Summit do, so do those at the bottom.

The wage-earner copies the models' clothes and manners, and manners are the external manifestation of morals. When a society loses the morals of its tradition, it withers on the vine because its vitality disappears.

I think of those American so-called heiresses chasing about the world purchasing husbands, paying men alimony after they divorce them, producing public scandals by the brazenness of their conduct and shaming their country and civilization, and then I think of Margaret answering the call of duty.

I cannot but wonder what these heiresses have inherited. Surely it is not a sence of devoted motherhood. Surely it is not the virtues of the Judaic-Christian civilization. Surely it is not the strength of the pioneer women who helped to build America, their own grandmothers who assisted in the building of the very fortunes which they now squander in roistering without sufficient shame to shut their doors and pull the blinds over their windows.

Margaret has rebuked them all and maybe our world, by this example, will return to a regard for duty in all its manifestations.

That Body of Yours

MANAGEMENT OF CERVICAL DISK SYNDROME

Yesterday we discussed the signs and symptoms of cervical disk conditions (upper seven vertebrae in the spine) and we will go on today to some of the current methods of treatment as reported by Professor David Cleveland in Postgraduate Medicine. In general, the treatment of the cervical syndrome (group of symptoms) depends on the type and duration of symptoms; no one plan will cover all cases. Traction (the act of drawing or pulling) and physiotherapy generally make up the most helpful forms of treatment.

"There is some difference of opinion among physicians as to the most suitable type of traction but head traction in the neutral or very slightly bent position is most efficient. The purpose of traction is to spread the space between the vertebrae and widen the little canals which hold the nerve roots. Traction may be used continuously or intermittently. When possible, hospitalization with continuous traction for a period of a few days to two weeks is desirable. In this way, needed rest and relaxation are obtained along with relief of pain. After hospitalization has been completed the patient is given intermittent traction for ten minute periods three times a week. They can be taught to apply their own traction by a pulley, block and tackle arrangement, which can be set up in the patient's own home. X-ray examination is made once a month during the period of active treatment."

When the patient is up and about, postural exercises and training are extremely important. Stooping or round-shouldered position should be corrected by bracing or postural training. Sleeping with a contour pillow or rolled blanket under the neck is helpful. Heat and massage to the muscles of the neck and shoulders aid in reducing the pain and discomfort of muscle spasm and allow relaxation. Drugs are seldom necessary for this purpose although aspirin or aspirin with small amounts of codeine added is occasionally necessary for pain relief. ACTH and cortisone are rarely needed.

When the above treatment or a similar one is used early and adequately, operation is seldom necessary. However, sometimes protruded disk fragments compressing either the spinal cord or the nerve roots require removal by surgery. Also, traction may aggravate these symptoms as its action is similar to tightening a violin string over the protruded disk. Compression of the nerve root by calcified spurs forming on the vertebrae often can be relieved only by surgical operation. The surgery, however, is one that requires considerable experience and utmost care and caution.

"In summary, surgical treatment for the cervical syndrome is generally a last resort and should be used only after nonsurgical treatment fails."

We should keep in mind that if we have the symptoms of cervical disk syndrome, we should seek help early and not allow it to become chronic or to progress. Early treatment by other than surgical means is usually successful.

Don't Worry About the Ghosts---Watch the Live Ones

Bu suppose River AAA flooded three times in 150 years—still sticking to the average of one flood every 50 years—but those three floods came in 1956, again in 1957, and the third time in 1958.

THE THREE FLOODS, bunched together like that, might wreck a company. But how then can flood insurance be provided? At the hearings there were two proposals offered although they may not be the ones finally decided upon by Congress.

One would have the government do the insuring; the other would guarantee the losses of private insurance companies over a certain amount.

It seemed agreed that no one, and no business firm, could get any amount of insurance he wanted. Sen. Lehman (D.-N.Y.), who presided at the hearings, talked of a possible limit of $300,000 per company.

Then there was another question: Should the insurance cover not only a man's home but his furniture and other personal belongings, too? The sentiment at the hearings leaned toward coverage for real property, not personal possessions.

But should the insurance cover only homes and business buildings and the merchandise and equipment in those buildings? Or should it cover other things, like a farmer's crops, those still in the field and those already in storage?

ONE OF THE toughest problems for the flood victims—in facing the future—is in paying the mortgage still owned on the house which was swept away. Congress will also have to consider that, too.

President Eisenhower has assured New England governors his administration is determined "to assist the states and people of the northeast in developing adequate protections against future flood and hurricane losses."

But any insurance program approved by Congress — even though, perhaps, it is limited to floods—would cover the whole country.

Progress Report Given by Stang About Kingston

In one of his speeches this week delivered before a group of Republican workers, and broadcast over the radio, Mayor Frederick H. Stang dealt with sewer construction, traffic control and the program of the planning board.

He said health and safety were prime considerations in the administration's program, and connected the planning board's activities with the arterial highway system and surveys on traffic.

MAYOR STANG SAID sanitary sewers were constructed on these streets:

Mary's avenue, South Pine street, Wilkie avenue, Lounsbury place and Sylvester street. Sanitary sewers are under construction at the present time in Pearl street, Hope street, Ringtop road, Sharon Lane, Westbrook place, Jervis avenue, Clifton avenue, Lipton avenue and Amsterdam avenue.

The elimination of a major health hazard in the vicinity of Foxhall, Flatbush and Albany avenues, as well as overcoming a source of pollution in the Esopus creek, was accomplished by the construction of a 10-inch force main in Foxhall avenue from Albany avenue to O'Neil street.

A 24-inch R. C. storm drain was constructed on Gill street and East Union street from Walnut street to a point on East Union street which replaced a century old private sewer of the Newark Lime & Cement Co.

IN THE CENTRAL PART of the city, the 60-year-old combined trunk sewer became inadequate due to the large number of public buildings, such as the high school, MJM School, Library, Benedictine Hospital and Kingston Hospital, with the result that large sections of this area became flooded. A long range program of replacement was instituted, and this year a 30-inch R. C. combined sewer was constructed on Jansen avenue to relieve overloading in that area and to take care of the new Kingston Hospital addition. Contracts have been let and work will soon be started on another supplementation of these lines on Broadway and on Delaware avenue.

At the time of the recent heavy flood, the Broadway underpass was the driest place in Ulster county because the administration had taken care of conditions there.

Your administration widened Wilbur avenue and erected a guard rail fence at all dangerous points, and has done the same on Abeel street and other parts of our city where life and limb might be in danger.

WE HAVE INSTALLED numerous "watch out for children" signs and stop signs throughout the city.

We have installed a new traffic light at Albany and Foxhall avenues, which is a very congested area at certain times of the morning and evening. A traffic light was installed at the intersection of Delaware avenue and North street to accommodate the excessive traffic going to and from the beach. The intersection of Abeel and Dunn streets has been equipped with a traffic light. A light is presently being installed at Main street and Washington avenue, which has been desired for a long time. A light is presently being designed and will soon be installed at the top of Broadway and McEntee street. Serious consideration is being given to the erection of a new light at the corner of Clinton avenue, Pearl street and Albany avenue, in order to provide a walking time for pedestrians.

YOUR ADMINISTRATION feels that it is its duty to do everything economically possible to encourage and make available, both on-street and off-street parking. We believe we are fulfilling that duty when I tell you that there is now available a large area known as the North Front street parking lot, which has been repaired and new modern lights are being installed so that there will be a safe, adequate parking area for both residents and out of town shoppers.

If my Democrat opponent would search the records, it would show that the arterial highway system was first initiated as long ago as April 2, 1953, by former Mayor Newkirk and representatives of the city planning commission, who requested and had a conference with Mr. Bertram Tallamy, superintendent of the State Truway Authority, and also head of the Department of Public Works of the State of New York, at which time Mr. Tallamy directed that an arterial route survey be made by the Bureau of State Highway Planning.

THE RECORD will further show that your City Planning Commission and their employes physically took all the traffic counts throughout the city, correlated all the data and forwarded daily records to the Bureau of Highway Planning.

On January 26, 1954 the City Planning Commission presented to me a six page report, which is a matter of public record. This comprehensive report, signed by all of the members of the Planning Commission, gave an intensive and unbiased analysis and recommended its adoption by the Common Council.

AN UNBIASED SEARCH of the records will also disclose that representatives of the City Planning Commission and myself attended many conferences at Albany and Poughkeepsie pertaining to this arterial route.

In closing, may I again remind you that the information I have given you, as well as the report in my previous discussions, is all a matter of public record.

Contracts have been let and work will soon be started on another supplementation of these lines on Broadway and on Delaware avenue.

At the time of the recent heavy flood, the Broadway underpass was the driest place in Ulster county because the administration had taken care of conditions there.

Your administration widened Wilbur avenue and erected a guard rail fence at all dangerous points, and has done the same on Abeel street and other parts of our city where life and limb might be in danger.

WE HAVE INSTALLED numerous "watch out for children" signs and stop signs throughout the city.

We have installed a new traffic light at Albany and Foxhall avenues, which is a very congested area at certain times of the morning and evening. A traffic light was installed at the intersection of Delaware avenue and North street to accommodate the excessive traffic going to and from the beach. The intersection of Abeel and Dunn streets has been equipped with a traffic light. A light is presently being installed at Main street and Washington avenue, which has been desired for a long time. A light is presently being designed and will soon be installed at the top of Broadway and McEntee street. Serious consideration is being given to the erection of a new light at the corner of Clinton avenue, Pearl street and Albany avenue, in order to provide a walking time for pedestrians.

YOUR ADMINISTRATION feels that it is its duty to do everything economically possible to encourage and make available, both on-street and off-street parking. We believe we are fulfilling that duty when I tell you that there is now available a large area known as the North Front street parking lot, which has been repaired and new modern lights are being installed so that there will be a safe, adequate parking area for both residents and out of town shoppers.

If my Democrat opponent would search the records, it would show that the arterial highway system was first initiated as long ago as April 2, 1953, by former Mayor Newkirk and representatives of the city planning commission, who requested and had a conference with Mr. Bertram Tallamy, superintendent of the State Truway Authority, and also head of the Department of Public Works of the State of New York, at which time Mr. Tallamy directed that an arterial route survey be made by the Bureau of State Highway Planning.

THE RECORD will further show that your City Planning Commission and their employes physically took all the traffic counts throughout the city, correlated all the data and forwarded daily records to the Bureau of Highway Planning.

On January 26, 1954 the City Planning Commission presented to me a six page report, which is a matter of public record. This comprehensive report, signed by all of the members of the Planning Commission, gave an intensive and unbiased analysis and recommended its adoption by the Common Council.

AN UNBIASED SEARCH of the records will also disclose that representatives of the City Planning Commission and myself attended many conferences at Albany and Poughkeepsie pertaining to this arterial route.

In closing, may I again remind you that the information I have given you, as well as the report in my previous discussions, is all a matter of public record.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

"Mad, rushing waters, high water at Eddyville and up the canal. The Esopus Creek looked like a vast sea," is not from the October 1955 Freeman, but from The Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal, of Thursday, April 14, 1895, 60 years ago. "The almost steady downpour of rains, Monday and Monday night caused a heavy freshet in the Rondout creek and boating was nearly at a standstill all day. The Eddyville yachts had hard work to run up the creek but they succeeded in making all their trips. At 9 o'clock the water was on the Island Dock of the D & H Canal Co. and work had to be suspended for the day. The water rose rapidly in the Rondout creek during high tide at noon, rising fully five feet in a half an hour. At the lower storehouse of the Newark Lime and Cement Manufacturing Co. at Ponckhockie about 500 barrels of cement were damaged. Several chutes were washed away and a dog was drowned."

"The banks overflowed along the low lands from where the creek enters the valley at Marbletown and at Kingston, a distance of several miles, the low lands were completely submerged, making a sea of water in some places half a mile wide. Hundreds of people stood upon the high ground at North Front street, Albany and at Union avenues, gazing upon the high waters in the lowlands. Mutton Hollow, as usual, was flooded, the water rising to considerable height in some of the buildings. At Eddyville the water was several feet higher than it had been for years. It was impossible to lock any boats in the canal and business on the D & H canal was at a standstill.

Just like now, "People living on the low grounds moved to the upper stories of their dwellings to escape the fast rising waters. The damage done by the flood at Rosendale is very heavy. The tow path from the bridge to Ferguson's lock is washed away down to the stone foundation, and the canal is badly damaged. Dockstader's drug store was flooded. R. & C. I. Lefever suffered several thousand dollar loss to grain, feed, etc. Water flooded Dr. Van Demark's cellar, the brick block of John Hardenburgh, and reached the kitchen floor at Sammon's hotel. The horses had to be removed from Sammon's barn, and taken on the hill. President Ferguson of the village corporation lost a smoke house and a lot of hams, and suffered considerable water damage.

History continues to repeat itself with: "The Esopus Creek was changed at Saugerties to a roaring, surging sea. The water flowed into the lower floors of the Barclay Fiber Co. plant and covered the floor for about two feet. The stone docks were under water, and men were unable to get to work. In the morning, the ferryboat, Air Line, while leaving her slip, was carried by the fast current across the bows of the steamer, Ulster, with great force, crushing in her side, breaking her wheel and railing. She floated out with the current to the river in a helpless condition. She was picked up and towed back to the long dock by a passing tug, very fortunate for those on board. Tow-paths of the D. & H. Canal were damaged all along the line, the worst at Ellenville where 1,000 feet were washed out completely. Train tracks were covered in various places so trains could not run, and in some places tracks were completely washed out.

Fences Improve Outdoor Living

Fences can be more than an obstruction to four-and two-footed neighborhood marauders, says Robert Hale Ellis, Jr., prominent landscape architect.

With outdoor living dominating the family living habits more and more, Ellis suggests there are inexpensive ways to make this new mode of life even more enjoyable.

Fences, designed to dress up the family yard, can give character to the architectural lines of the house, he says, as well as beauty and seclusion.

Texture, so important in modern design and decorating, is just as easy to develop for the outdoor living area, Ellis points out. Rough Douglas fir or western red cedar has texture, coloring and characteristics which blend well with the natural setting. These inexpensive woods can be obtained in lower grades and can be allowed to weather or can be stained to add life and character.

The LOCKPORT

A Roomy, Cape Cod Style Cottage

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Seven
Cubage	25,000'
Dimensions	37' x 38'

To the left off the hall, the living room is 23' x 15' in dimensions. Most attractive features of the room are the two windows in the front wall, the two in the left wall, and the large fireplace in the right wall. To obtain still further light you could put a French door on the doorway leading from the living room to the back porch.

This porch can be just roofed over and left open, or glassed or screened in, as you prefer. If you do glass or screen it in, the porch can do double duty during the warm weather as an extra eating or sleeping room. Another door in the back living room wall leads to the 13' x 12' dining room.

The window, in the left wall, looks out on the porch; the larger window in the back wall looks on the yard. A built-in cabinet located in the right back corner of the room makes an excellent storage spot for your china and glassware. And since the door in the right wall leads directly to the kitchen, serving formal meals in this dining room presents no problem whatsoever.

Every inch of space in the kitchen is put to good use; yet this room is not cluttered or over-crowded. Working counters line the left and back walls, with the stove at the left end of the array and the sink centered under the window in the back wall.

By the large window in the right wall of the 13' x 10'6" kitchen is the area set apart as the breakfast nook. This well-lighted, pleasant area can also be used for other family meals or between-meal snacks if you so desire.

Large enough to easily hold a tub and a shower, the all modern bathroom can be reached from the centrall hallway and also from the front bedroom. One window provides ample light and ventilation for this room which also contains a good sized closet.

Coat Closet

There is an extra large coat closet opening on the central hallway just before the door to the bathroom.

The first floor bedroom receives excellent light and ventilation through two windows in the front wall and one in the right wall. This 15' x 13' bedroom has a spacious closet in its back wall—a closet which could easily hold the clothing of two people if this room is used as the master bedroom.

Another central hallway connects the three bedrooms and the bath on the second floor of "The Lockport." Measuring 136" x 12' 6", the right front bedroom has double windows in the right wall; boasts two large closets, one in the back wall and another in the left wall. Another window provides extra light and ventilation for the closet in the back wall.

Opening on the hall, just before the door to this bedroom, is the good sized linen closet. In this closet you can keep all the linen for the second floor bedrooms and towels, etc., for the bath.

One window in the left wall and two in the back guarantee cross ventilation and good light for the 15' x 13' bedroom. This room, too, boasts two large closets, one in the back wall and another in the left wall. The large closet in the back wall can be lined with cedar and will then make an ideal storage place for your family's precious woolens, blankets, etc.

To windows in the left wall and one in the back provide an abundance of light and ventilation for the back bedroom. This bedroom, which measures 16' x 12', has one closet in the front wall.

How to Figure Paint Required For House Job

A lot of people run into trouble in painting their homes because they haven't figured before they started just how much paint they would actually need. By the time they get half-way through they decide that the job is taking too much paint and costing too much money. What a lot of them do then is to switch to some cheap off-brand paint and the final result is not often so good.

The amount of paint required for a house will depend on the size of the house, the number of coats and the type of surface you are painting. It will also depend on the kind of paint you use. It's easy enough to figure out the number of square feet of surface you have to cover — simply multiply the width of each wall by its height and then add them together.

If your house is covered with wood siding you can expect a gallon of paint to cover between 450 and 500 square feet on the first coat. On a second coat a gallon should cover about 550 square feet. Now, if your house is covered with wood shingles a gallon on the first coat will cover only about 350 square feet and about 400 square feet on the second coat.

If you have asbestos siding and use an asbestos shingle siding paint, look for a coverage of about 200 square feet per gallon on the first coat and about 400 square feet for the second coat. A paint suitable for use on brick siding will give you about the same coverage. The reason you get such poor coverage on wood shingles, asbestos and brick is because these surfaces are more porous than ordinary wood siding and they quickly absorb much of the paint from the first coat. The second coat does better.

Time Now to Start Planning for Patio

It is patio planning time now. Get your ideas down on paper, for summer building weather will soon be here.

Your patios can be modest or elaborate, large or small. Patios can adjoin the house or be completely separate installations.

Here are a few ideas for simple and inexpensive patios adjoining the home. The terrace floor of brick, flagstone or fir two-by-fours is enough for a few lounging chairs, a bridge table or a snack table. If you use wood, allow for drainage underneath and lay fir two-by-fours with space between each one to let hose water drain away.

Next step is to add a wooden louvred screen to keep off sun glare. Four-by-four posts of fir or cedar will support a simple screen built up of one-by-six or one-by-eight inch boards. Permanent wooden benches with comfortable backs can be installed along one or more sides of the patio floor. Portable barbecues work well or you may have time and money to build your own barbecue pit. Study prevailing winds before you locate it to keep smoke from blowing into guests' faces. Build it to suit your need of the sun—cool or hot.

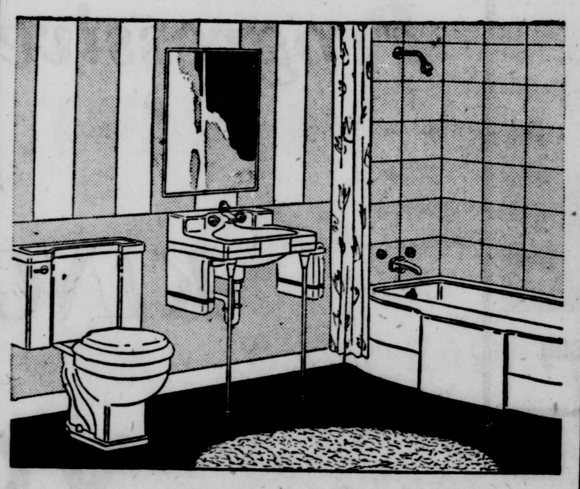

A DROP of water is not much, but it helps to make the ocean. Small classified ads make BIG business volumes — try one in the Freeman. Phone 5000.

KIT CARSON

By Russ Winterbotham and Ed Kudlaty

During the Civil War, Kit Carson rose to brigadier with the volunteer cavalry, and once more his friend Charles Bent, though now dead, came to his aid—

Bent had been assassinated while governor of New Mexico, but ruins of his trading post fort still stood.

Attacked by superior numbers of well-armed Kiowas and Apaches, Kit took refuge in the ruined trading post.

Copr. 1955 by NEA Service, Inc. 11-5

After inflicting heavy casualties, he retreated to safety under cover of darkness, a brilliant military achievement.

Opening lead—♥A

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand went by the book, both in bidding and play. South's opening bid of one no-trump showed balanced distribution and a count of 16 to 18 points (he actually had 17 points). North could tell that his own 12 points made the combined count enough for game but not enough for slam, so he promptly raised to three no-trump.

West made a book opening lead—the ace of hearts. The lead of an ace against a no-trump contract asks your partner to play his highest card in the suit. This isn't true when the contract is a slam, for then the opening lead may be merely a move of safety or despair. When the contract is lower than slam, however, a player leads the ace when he hopes to run his suit immediately, and this lead calls for partner's highest card.

East obediently played the nine of hearts at the first trick, and West knew that South held the queen. It was possible, of course, that South had started with only two hearts, but this seemed like too much to hope for.

West counted points, finding 12 in the dummy and 8 in his own hand. South was known to have 16 to 18 points, and there were 40 points in the entire deck. East was bound to have 2 to 4 points. West decided, therefore, to gamble that his partner could win a trick before South could get nine tricks.

West exited safely with a spade, and South found that he needed a third club trick to make his contract. He won the spade in dummy and led a low club, hoping to duck the trick to West.

East properly stepped up with the jack of clubs, and South took the ace. Declarer led a club to the king and then gave up a club, hoping up to the last moment that West would have to win it.

As it happened, East won the club trick and returned his remaining heart. This gave West four more heart tricks, setting the contract.

Winged Pup Sitter.

Miami, Okla. (AP)—When the pointer dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Watts, who live on a farm had six pups the family's 30-year-old parrot became an assiduous pup-sitter. Spending much of her time at the barn where the pups were kept, she nuzzled and talked to them constantly. "Whatsa' matter?" she asked them when a bumbling, big-footed pup stepped on her or fell into her.

100 Are Injured In Japan Riot Over U. S. Survey

Sunakawa, Japan, Nov. 5 (AP)—Some 100 persons were injured today, some seriously, in a wild melee between Japanese police and screaming villagers and labor unionists trying to halt surveying for a U. S. airbase expansion.

Twelve hundred steel-helmeted police pushed through about the same number of rock-throwing, mop-waving demonstrators and advanced into fields the farmers had smeared with human waste to block the survey.

BEHIND THEM came 28 surveyors who then completed all but about one week's remaining work on plotting runway extensions to permit U. S. jets to land at nearby Tachikawa Air Base. The Japanese government promised the United States it would make the extensions.

Incomplete roports said about 60 policemen and 40 demonstrators were hurt and some will need almost a month to recover from serious blows received in the pushing, tugging and rock-throwing. The police did not use their arms.

Woman demonstrators stood by with straw mops dripping human waste in an effort to make the police turn back.

Hospital Store

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—Patients at the Southwest Florida Tuberculosis Hospital operate their own sundry store and get the benefit of all the profits. The profits have been used to buy two television sets and a movie screen for the wards, to set up an emergency fund for needy patients, to provide fare home for some discharged patients, and to supply items from the store to patients who can't pay and can't work. Those who have no resources but can work operate the store, handle the mobile cart used for the convenience of the bedridden, and care for vending machines. They get enough to be able to get necessities and some luxuries from the store. The store is a project of the Patients Executive Council, backed by hospital authorities.

100 Are Injured In Japan Riot Over U. S. Survey

Sunakawa, Japan, Nov. 5 (AP)—Some 100 persons were injured today, some seriously, in a wild melee between Japanese police and screaming villagers and labor unionists trying to halt surveying for a U. S. airbase expansion.

Twelve hundred steel-helmeted police pushed through about the same number of rock-throwing, mop-waving demonstrators and advanced into fields the farmers had smeared with human waste to block the survey.

BEHIND THEM came 28 surveyors who then completed all but about one week's remaining work on plotting runway extensions to permit U. S. jets to land at nearby Tachikawa Air Base. The Japanese government promised the United States it would make the extensions.

Incomplete roports said about 60 policemen and 40 demonstrators were hurt and some will need almost a month to recover from serious blows received in the pushing, tugging and rock-throwing. The police did not use their arms.

Woman demonstrators stood by with straw mops dripping human waste in an effort to make the police turn back.

Hospital Store

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—Patients at the Southwest Florida Tuberculosis Hospital operate their own sundry store and get the benefit of all the profits. The profits have been used to buy two television sets and a movie screen for the wards, to set up an emergency fund for needy patients, to provide fare home for some discharged patients, and to supply items from the store to patients who can't pay and can't work. Those who have no resources but can work operate the store, handle the mobile cart used for the convenience of the bedridden, and care for vending machines. They get enough to be able to get necessities and some luxuries from the store. The store is a project of the Patients Executive Council, backed by hospital authorities.

Onteora Harriers Win Section Nine Class C Championship

Kingston Third In 'A' Division; NFA Triumphs

Indians Score By Big Margin

Onteora Central School added the Section Nine championship to its growing list of cross-country laurels yesterday at Bear Mountain.

The Indians from Boiceville outclassed all other teams in Class C over the two and one-half mile route. Seven OCS runners finished in the first 10.

Kingston High School trailed the field in Class A, coming in behind Newburgh and Middletown. Monticello captured Class B honors.

The team scores:

CLASS A

Newburgh	31
Middletown	43
Kingston	47

CLASS C

Onteora	27
Tappan Zee	53
Marlboro	60
Wallkill	97

COMBINED CLASSES B, C, D

Monticello	53
Onteora	77
Suffern	93
Spring Valley	113
Tappan Zee	149
Marlboro	165
Clarkstown	177
Narrowsburg	186
Liberty	187
Wallkill	261
Nyack	271

Onteora qualified two runners for the state championship meet at Bear Mountain next Saturday —Howard Wendler, who finished third, and Kurt Hahn, who took fourth.

FOUR KINGSTON harriers will run in the state finals. They are Jimmy Childs, who was fifth; John Weekly, sixth; Ray Peterson, ninth; and Tom Hayes, 11th. Jon Angstrom, who was 16th, is an alternate.

Bernie Stahl's Onteora team, which last week won the UCAL title, won in a breeze despite the fact that its best runner, Glenn Glass, was not up to par.

Glass, who hadn't practiced all week because of a chest cold, finished in eighth position.

Other Onteora runners in the first 10 were Bob Wilkins, fifth; Bruce Hopkins, seventh; Otto Krein, ninth; and Howie Hopkins, 10th.

TOM SCHOPINSKY of Marlboro, the UCAL champion, repeated by leading the field home in the day's fastest time of 12 minutes, 47 seconds over the rain-drenched course.

Dennis Martin of Tappan Zee was a distant second, being clocked in 13:30. Wendler was third, followed closely by Hahn.

Kingston's failure to achieve a better team finish was again due to the fact that only four of the five scoring runners placed high.

Dave Beehler, one of Kingston's top men, hurt his leg in a fall at last week's DUSO meet. He practiced only sparingly during the week. The lack of practice showed, for he finished 19th.

BOB HIGGINS of Newburgh won the "A" title in 13:11. Higgins nipped teammate Jimmy Chick by three seconds. Middletown runners placed third and fourth with Childs and Weekly getting the next two positions.

E. Stroudsburg Scores Victory Over Port, 7-6

East Stroudsburg High School of Pennsylvania handed Port Jervis its second loss last night, winning 7-6 at the Quaker State field.

The home team scored after a second-period downfield drive with Dick Gray passing eight yards to John Bock for the touchdown. Gray placekicked the extra point.

Port marched 80 yards for a third-period score, with fullback Vince Pagano bulling over from the 12. Pagano failed on a placekick for the point.

The Porters drove 70 yards in the game's waning moments, reaching the East Stroudsburg 16-yard line when time ran out.

The score by quarters:

Port Jervis	0	0	6	0	—6
E. Stroudsburg	0	7	0	0	—7

Ryder Cup Matches Begin

Palm Springs, Calif., Nov. 5 (AP)—The British accepted a challenge and threw perhaps their strongest pair of players at the United States as the famed Ryder Cup international golf matches got under way today over the sunny Thunderbird Country Club course.

Two veteran Britishers, Capt. Dai Rees and Harry Bradshaw, took dead aim at the formidable United States team of Cary Middlecoff and Sam Snead in the 36 holes of match play.

They were set as the featured Scotch foursome — each teammate hitting alternate strokes—in the last of four matches slated for the day. Play was set to begin at noon (EST).

Results of the foursome might be indicative, but the eight singles matches tomorrow will tell the whole tale.

Arrayed against each other in the other foursome were Chandler Harper and Jerry Barber of the U. S. against Johnny Fallon and John Jacobs of the British; Yankees Ted Kroll and Doug Ford against Erie Brown and Sydney Scott, and Jack Burke, Jr., and Tommy Bolt against Arthur Lees and Harry Weetman.

Ten times the two nations have met in this series and only twice, in 1929 and 1933, have the British won.

The winner of each match is awarded one point. A match tied counts half a point for both teams.

Most everyone, including Rees, feel that the cup will be won on the putting greens. Oddly enough, Rees rated himself and possibly Jacobs as the weakest of their putters.

Thunderbird measures 6,843 yards and par is 36-35-71.

Cornell Harriers Win Heptagonal Title

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Cornell, winner of the heptagonal cross country title for the third straight year, should be well stocked with championship material for at least two more years.

As the Big Red runners won the title yesterday with a low total of 36 points, they captured the first two places with sophomores. Dave Eckel outsprinted Mike Midler to win the five-mile race over the muddy Van Cortland park course in 25 minutes, 46.6 seconds. Midler was clocked in 25:48.

Harvard finished second with 85 points and Yale third with 90.

Army was 4th with 101 followed by Navy 123, Pennsylvania 134, Princeton 155, Dartmouth 189, Columbia 236 and Brown 241.

Now It's Who Can't Beat Lions?

(By The Associated Press)

Time was when one of the big questions in the national football league was who can beat the Detroit Lions? Now it's who can't?

After winning the Western Conference title three years running, the Lions open up the final half of the season against the Baltimore Colts tonight (Saturday) in Detroit still looking for their first victory. Injuries and replacement problems have led to a 0-6 record for the Lions.

This is the Colts' second shot at Detroit this season. The first time Baltimore came off with a 28-13 decision and since has put together a 4-2 record that shares the western lead with the Los Angeles Rams.

IN ONE OTHER game tonight, the Pittsburgh Steelers (4-2) go to Chicago to play the Cardinals (2-3-1). This game's a "pick 'em" bet, although Pittsburgh earlier beat the Cards 14-7.

The rest of the NFL has at it tomorrow: New York at Cleveland, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at Washington and Green Bay at Chicago to play the Bears.

Cleveland's Browns, as usual, are atop the Eastern division, losing only to the Washington Redskins. They're solid favorites behind quarterback Otto Graham to keep the Giants (2-4) in the cellar.

Philadelphia, away off pre-season expectations, is just ahead of New York in the Eastern conference with a 2-3-1 record. But the Eagles are favored to reverse an early 31-30 decision won by the 'Skins (3-3).

Kingston Cagers Top Bridge City Quintet by 93-78

George Carpouzis tallied 26 points to lead a Kingston All-star team to a 93-78 conquest of Lincoln Center last night at the Poughkeepsie team's court.

The Kingstonians led throughout the game, although outscored in the final period.

Behind Carpouzis came Ward Dunham with 14; Ronnie Scheffel, 13; John Godwin, 12; Buckley, 11; and Bill Haber, 10.

Dave Closson scored 28 and Dick Oakley 24 for the Lynx.

Rally to Win

West Virginia Shades G-W Grid Team, 13-7

(By The Associated Press)

The bowl hopes of West Virginia's unbeaten-untied Mountaineers were still alive today but only after they had the daylights scared out of them by a stubborn George Washington team.

The seventh-ranked Mountaineers last night rallied from a 7-0 halftime deficit for a 13-7 victory. It was their seventh straight and virtually assured them the Southern conference title.

NO POSSIBLE BOWL bid hinged on the other major game played last night but it was another hardfought contest with Miami's Hurricanes edging Boston College 14-7 on touchdown runs of 73 and 44 yards by Jack Losch. Fumbles killed off two BC drives inside Miami's 10-yard line.

Down 21-0 in the third period, Hardin-Simmons staged a great rally to upset Texas Western 23-21.

George Washington's Colonials, undismayed by West Virginia's nation-leading offensive record, tallied in the first period on an 89-yard run by little Mike Sommer. Then, after West Virginia took the lead in the last period, they drove to the Mountaineer 15 before an intercepted pass halted the threat a minute before the final gun sounded.

Bobby Moss put the West Virginians back in the game with a 43-yard touchdown run in the third quarter and Larry Krutko plunged 2 yards for the winning TD to end a 98-yard march.

The other members of the top ten in the Associated Press poll, except Texas Christian, which has a day off, swing into action today.

TOP-RANKED Maryland takes on Louisiana State, which has won only once. Oklahoma, No. 2, figures to rack up its 25th straight victory and its 51st in the Big Seven conference with Missouri the victim.

Third-ranked Michigan, also unbeaten and with a trip to the Rose Bowl in sight as the Big Ten representative, could well find a tartar in Illinois' swift backs but a defeat by the Illini definitely would come in the category of a major upset.

Other games involving first ten teams are Michigan State (No. 4) vs Purdue, UCLA (5) vs College of Pacific, Notre Dame (6) vs Penn; Georgia Tech (8) vs Tennessee and Navy (9) vs Duke.

Those present several interesting angles.

Purdue, beaten only by Notre Dame and Wisconsin, is a potential spoiler and could well damage the rating of the Spartans, themselves conquerors of the Irish.

Penn has a string of 15 straight defeats yet some 50,000 fans will be in Franklin Field to see the Quakers' seemingly hopeless chance of stopping Paul Hornung and his fleet of speedy Notre Dame mates. This will be the final game in the long Notre Dame-Penn series.

NAVY, its attack geared to the passing of George Welsh, faces the problem of rebounding from the lacing handed the Middies by Notre Dame last week. It's a question whether Duke's offense has regained its early season momentum.

Tennessee has won four straight against weaker opponents and could well wreck Georgia Tech's hopes for the Southeastern conference title and a bowl bid.

Another long series ends in Yale's Bowl when Army's improving Cadets take on the once-beaten Elis before 70,000 fans.

Throughout the nation are scattered such other major contests as Syracuse-Penn State, Tulane-Alabama, Kentucky-Vanderbilt, Indiana-Ohio State, Minnesota-Iowa, Washington-California, Stanford-Southern California, Mississippi State-Auburn and Baylor-Texas.

Sawyers' Game Reset to Monday

Saugerties High School's football game with New Paltz Central, scheduled for this afternoon at the Sawyer gridiron, has been postponed until Monday afternoon, 3 o'clock.

Saugerties coach Bill Straub said this morning that the SHS field was under water in some places, making playing conditions unsavory.

'Ad' Jones' Story; Twenty Years Of Sponsoring Kingston's Sports

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

To rewrite a certain television comics's favorite phrase, you can't hardly read these sports pages no more without seeing the name "Jones Dairy."

Chances are you won't have to look too closely, either.

For Addison "Ad" Jones is undisputably Kingston's most prolific sponsor of baseball and bowling teams.

There has always been a question, in local circles, as to which Jones is the more devoted: the national pastime or the ten-pins.

Between them they've kept "Ad" Jones in a perpetual round-the-calendar turmoil since the mid-1930s.

Farm boy, telephone company worker, baseball pitcher, bowler, milk dealer and the city's greatest sports "angel;" that's the Jones story in a nutshell.

It began more than 61 years ago, on March 25, 1894, in Chichester, where Ad was born.

He grew up on a farm and attended the Chichester school for eight years—working both before and after classes.

After leaving school ("eight grades was all we had") Jones did farm work and peddled milk. Then he went to work for the New York Telephone Company for 12 years.

"I did almost any kind of work for the 'phone company," he recalled, "sort of a handyman. When I quit to buy a farm in Athens, I was a foreman."

The tenure on the Athens farm was two years. In 1926 Ad bought out the Port Ewen Dairy and opened his own.

Jones took an interest in sports while still a youth. He was a pitcher for the Shield's Hotel team of Lackawack. Even earlier he took up bowling.

The first Jones-sponsored bowling team appeared in 1935. A couple of years later came the baseball, followed by softball and basketball outfits. Since then it's been a continuous cycle.

The Jones baseball teams have won no less than five City Baseball League championships. The J-D keglers have won innumerable local titles and one Hudson Valley League crown—in 1946-47.

This season Jones has reached a new high in the number of teams sponsored — eight. He can't, however, recall how many he's underwritten in the past 20 years. No doubt it's at least 100.

One year he took a team to Los Angeles to compete in the ABC championships. In other seasons Ad and his trundlers have visited Detroit, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Syracuse, Buffalo and New York city. Each time Jones has footed the bill.

Ad has served as Kingston Bowling Association president five times. He's been a KBA Board of Directors member for 19 of its 20 years, and has twice been Hudson Valley League president.

With this record, there's no question that he is the "Mr. Bowling" of Kingston.

Jones recalled the time he beat one of bowling's all-time greats, Andy Varipapa, in a three-game match at the YMCA alleys.

"Varipapa had just beaten Johnny Ferraro," Ad said. "We halved the first two games of the set. Then in the 10th frame of the final one Andy split while I struck out."

Baseball further stirred the memories of the dairyman with the big hands and the warm, friendly brown eyes.

"I remember watching a game in Branch Rickey's box seats at Ebbets Field. It was the year that Duke Snider and Gil Hodges had been brought up from the minors. Even then Rickey tabbed Snider as a future great."

Jones also recalled the appearance of Babe Ruth at the old Fair Grounds. That was in the heyday of The Bambino's career.

Another memory was the wartime game between the Kingston Recreations and the Brooklyn Dodgers. That game drew 6,500 people—the largest crowd ever here.

"Bill Lohrman pitched for us that night. We gave 'em a good fight before an error lost the game." That was the night Leo Durocher, instead of making the trip to Kingston, stayed at a race track. Larry MacPhail fired him the same night.

Baseball has had its disappointments for Jones. Chief of these was the late lamented Canadian-American League, in which he invested a sizeable sum.

"I thought the Can-Am league would go in Kingston," Jones says. "Perhaps it folded because we're too close to New York city. Also, television and radio didn't help."

Sports haven't been Jones' only interest. He has been chairman of the county March of Dimes campaign for the past five years.

The big question in the Jones story is why? Why spend so much time, energy and one's own money for no material rewards greater than a denful of trophies.

Ad's answer:

"If I've kept even one boy out of mischief, it's worth everything."

He continued, "Besides, I've always liked to mix with the kind of fellows who are on my teams; there's a lot of good fellowship amongst us. I've met plenty of fine people through sports."

Ad concedes that sports take a lot of time.

"I guess I could have taken care of my business a little better."

"And my wife thinks sometimes that sports interfere." Ad and Charlotte Ostrander of Edgewood, Greene county, were married on Sept. 29, 1917. They have four children—Evelyn, Bob, Ruth and Ronnie—plus some grandchildren.

The Jones were once a bowling family with father, mother and a son and daughter each participating.

Ad may spend more time at the business now. But he'll never get too far away; the Athletic Field, where his City League team performs on summer evenings, is 400 feet from the new dairy. And the city's two bowling alleys are only a few blocks away.

So it looks like Ad Jones, who's been in sports most of his life, will continue along the same line.

And of the past, he says "I'd do it all over again."

Onteora Harriers Win Section Nine Class C Championship

Kingston Third In 'A' Division; NFA Triumphs

Indians Score By Big Margin

Onteora Central School added the Section Nine championship to its growing list of cross-country laurels yesterday at Bear Mountain.

The Indians from Boiceville outclassed all other teams in Class C over the two and one-half mile route. Seven OCS runners finished in the first 10.

Kingston High School trailed the field in Class A, coming in behind Newburgh and Middletown. Monticello captured Class B honors.

The team scores:

CLASS A

Newburgh	31
Middletown	43
Kingston	47

CLASS C

Onteora	27
Tappan Zee	53
Marlboro	60
Wallkill	97

COMBINED CLASSES B, C, D

Monticello	53
Onteora	77
Suffern	93
Spring Valley	113
Tappan Zee	149
Marlboro	165
Clarkstown	177
Narrowsburg	186
Liberty	187
Wallkill	261
Nyack	271

Onteora qualified two runners for the state championship meet at Bear Mountain next Saturday —Howard Wendler, who finished third, and Kurt Hahn, who took fourth.

FOUR KINGSTON harriers will run in the state finals. They are Jimmy Childs, who was fifth; John Weekly, sixth; Ray Peterson, ninth; and Tom Hayes, 11th. Jon Angstrom, who was 16th, is an alternate.

Bernie Stahl's Onteora team, which last week won the UCAL title, won in a breeze despite the fact that its best runner, Glenn Glass, was not up to par.

Glass, who hadn't practiced all week because of a chest cold, finished in eighth position.

Other Onteora runners in the first 10 were Bob Wilkins, fifth; Bruce Hopkins, seventh; Otto Krein, ninth; and Howie Hopkins, 10th.

TOM SCHOPINSKY of Marlboro, the UCAL champion, repeated by leading the field home in the day's fastest time of 12 minutes, 47 seconds over the rain-drenched course.

Dennis Martin of Tappan Zee was a distant second, being clocked in 13:30. Wendler was third, followed closely by Hahn.

Kingston's failure to achieve a better team finish was again due to the fact that only four of the five scoring runners placed high.

Dave Beehler, one of Kingston's top men, hurt his leg in a fall at last week's DUSO meet. He practiced only sparingly during the week. The lack of practice showed, for he finished 19th.

BOB HIGGINS of Newburgh won the "A" title in 13:11. Higgins nipped teammate Jimmy Chick by three seconds. Middletown runners placed third and fourth with Childs and Weekly getting the next two positions.

E. Stroudsburg Scores Victory Over Port, 7-6

East Stroudsburg High School of Pennsylvania handed Port Jervis its second loss last night, winning 7-6 at the Quaker State field.

The home team scored after a second-period downfield drive with Dick Gray passing eight yards to John Bock for the touchdown. Gray placekicked the extra point.

Port marched 80 yards for a third-period score, with fullback Vince Pagano bulling over from the 12. Pagano failed on a placekick for the point.

The Porters drove 70 yards in the game's waning moments, reaching the East Stroudsburg 16-yard line when time ran out.

The score by quarters:

Port Jervis	0	0	6	0	—6

Ryder Cup Matches Begin

Palm Springs, Calif., Nov. 5 (AP)—The British accepted a challenge and threw perhaps their strongest pair of players at the United States as the famed Ryder Cup international golf matches got under way today over the sunny Thunderbird Country Club course.

Two veteran Britishers, Capt. Dai Rees and Harry Bradshaw, took dead aim at the formidable United States team of Cary Middlecoff and Sam Snead in the 36 holes of match play.

They were set as the featured Scotch foursome — each teammate hitting alternate strokes—in the last of four matches slated for the day. Play was set to begin at noon (EST).

Results of the foursome might be indicative, but the eight singles matches tomorrow will tell the whole tale.

Arrayed against each other in the other foursome were Chandler Harper and Jerry Barber of the U. S. against Johnny Fallon and John Jacobs of the British; Yankees Ted Kroll and Doug Ford against Erie Brown and Sydney Scott, and Jack Burke, Jr., and Tommy Bolt against Arthur Lees and Harry Weetman.

Ten times the two nations have met in this series and only twice, in 1929 and 1933, have the British won.

The winner of each match is awarded one point. A match tied counts half a point for both teams.

Most everyone, including Rees, feel that the cup will be won on the putting greens. Oddly enough, Rees rated himself and possibly Jacobs as the weakest of their putters.

Thunderbird measures 6,843 yards and par is 36-35-71.

Cornell Harriers Win Heptagonal Title

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Cornell, winner of the heptagonal cross country title for the third straight year, should be well stocked with championship material for at least two more years.

As the Big Red runners won the title yesterday with a low total of 36 points, they captured the first two places with sophomores. Dave Eckel outsprinted Mike Midler to win the five-mile race over the muddy Van Cortland park course in 25 minutes, 46.6 seconds. Midler was clocked in 25:48.

Harvard finished second with 85 points and Yale third with 90.

Army was 4th with 101 followed by Navy 123, Pennsylvania 134, Princeton 155, Dartmouth 189, Columbia 236 and Brown 241.

Now It's Who Can't Beat Lions?

(By The Associated Press)

Time was when one of the big questions in the national football league was who can beat the Detroit Lions? Now it's who can't?

After winning the Western Conference title three years running, the Lions open up the final half of the season against the Baltimore Colts tonight (Saturday) in Detroit still looking for their first victory. Injuries and replacement problems have led to a 0-6 record for the Lions.

This is the Colts' second shot at Detroit this season. The first time Baltimore came off with a 28-13 decision and since has put together a 4-2 record that shares the western lead with the Los Angeles Rams.

IN ONE OTHER game tonight, the Pittsburgh Steelers (4-2) go to Chicago to play the Cardinals (2-3-1). This game's a "pick 'em" bet, although Pittsburgh earlier beat the Cards 14-7.

The rest of the NFL has at it tomorrow: New York at Cleveland, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at Washington and Green Bay at Chicago to play the Bears.

Cleveland's Browns, as usual, are atop the Eastern division, losing only to the Washington Redskins. They're solid favorites behind quarterback Otto Graham to keep the Giants (2-4) in the cellar.

Philadelphia, away off pre-season expectations, is just ahead of New York in the Eastern conference with a 2-3-1 record. But the Eagles are favored to reverse an early 31-30 decision won by the 'Skins (3-3).

Kingston Cagers Top Bridge City Quintet by 93-78

George Carpouzis tallied 26 points to lead a Kingston All-star team to a 93-78 conquest of Lincoln Center last night at the Poughkeepsie team's court.

The Kingstonians led throughout the game, although outscored in the final period.

Behind Carpouzis came Ward Dunham with 14; Ronnie Scheffel, 13; John Godwin, 12; Buckley, 11; and Bill Haber, 10.

Dave Closson scored 28 and Dick Oakley 24 for the Lynx.

Rally to Win

West Virginia Shades G-W Grid Team, 13-7

(By The Associated Press)

The bowl hopes of West Virginia's unbeaten-untied Mountaineers were still alive today but only after they had the daylights scared out of them by a stubborn George Washington team.

The seventh-ranked Mountaineers last night rallied from a 7-0 halftime deficit for a 13-7 victory. It was their seventh straight and virtually assured them the Southern conference title.

NO POSSIBLE BOWL bid hinged on the other major game played last night but it was another hardfought contest with Miami's Hurricanes edging Boston College 14-7 on touchdown runs of 73 and 44 yards by Jack Losch. Fumbles killed off two BC drives inside Miami's 10-yard line.

Down 21-0 in the third period, Hardin-Simmons staged a great rally to upset Texas Western 23-21.

George Washington's Colonials, undismayed by West Virginia's nation-leading offensive record, tallied in the first period on an 89-yard run by little Mike Sommer. Then, after West Virginia took the lead in the last period, they drove to the Mountaineer 15 before an intercepted pass halted the threat a minute before the final gun sounded.

Bobby Moss put the West Virginians back in the game with a 43-yard touchdown run in the third quarter and Larry Krutko plunged 2 yards for the winning TD to end a 98-yard march.

The other members of the top ten in the Associated Press poll, except Texas Christian, which has a day off, swing into action today.

TOP-RANKED Maryland takes on Louisiana State, which has won only once. Oklahoma, No. 2, figures to rack up its 25th straight victory and its 51st in the Big Seven conference with Missouri the victim.

Third-ranked Michigan, also unbeaten and with a trip to the Rose Bowl in sight as the Big Ten representative, could well find a tartar in Illinois' swift backs but a defeat by the Illini definitely would come in the category of a major upset.

Other games involving first ten teams are Michigan State (No. 4) vs Purdue, UCLA (5) vs College of Pacific, Notre Dame (6) vs Penn; Georgia Tech (8) vs Tennessee and Navy (9) vs Duke.

Those present several interesting angles.

Purdue, beaten only by Notre Dame and Wisconsin, is a potential spoiler and could well damage the rating of the Spartans, themselves conquerors of the Irish.

Penn has a string of 15 straight defeats yet some 50,000 fans will be in Franklin Field to see the Quakers' seemingly hopeless chance of stopping Paul Hornung and his fleet of speedy Notre Dame mates. This will be the final game in the long Notre Dame-Penn series.

NAVY, its attack geared to the passing of George Welsh, faces the problem of rebounding from the lacing handed the Middies by Notre Dame last week. It's a question whether Duke's offense has regained its early season momentum.

Tennessee has won four straight against weaker opponents and could well wreck Georgia Tech's hopes for the Southeastern conference title and a bowl bid.

Another long series ends in Yale's Bowl when Army's improving Cadets take on the once-beaten Elis before 70,000 fans.

Throughout the nation are scattered such other major contests as Syracuse-Penn State, Tulane-Alabama, Kentucky-Vanderbilt, Indiana-Ohio State, Minnesota-Iowa, Washington-California, Stanford-Southern California, Mississippi State-Auburn and Baylor-Texas.

Sawyers' Game Reset to Monday

Saugerties High School's football game with New Paltz Central, scheduled for this afternoon at the Sawyer gridiron, has been postponed until Monday afternoon, 3 o'clock.

Saugerties coach Bill Straub said this morning that the SHS field was under water in some places, making playing conditions unsavory.

'Ad' Jones' Story; Twenty Years Of Sponsoring Kingston's Sports

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

To rewrite a certain television comics's favorite phrase, you can't hardly read these sports pages no more without seeing the name "Jones Dairy."

Chances are you won't have to look too closely, either.

For Addison "Ad" Jones is undisputably Kingston's most prolific sponsor of baseball and bowling teams.

There has always been a question, in local circles, as to which Jones is the more devoted: the national pastime or the ten-pins.

Between them they've kept "Ad" Jones in a perpetual round-the-calendar turmoil since the mid-1930s.

Farm boy, telephone company worker, baseball pitcher, bowler, milk dealer and the city's greatest sports "angel;" that's the Jones story in a nutshell.

It began more than 61 years ago, on March 25, 1894, in Chichester, where Ad was born.

He grew up on a farm and attended the Chichester school for eight years—working both before and after classes.

After leaving school ("eight grades was all we had") Jones did farm work and peddled milk. Then he went to work for the New York Telephone Company for 12 years.

"I did almost any kind of work for the 'phone company," he recalled, "sort of a handyman. When I quit to buy a farm in Athens, I was a foreman."

The tenure on the Athens farm was two years. In 1926 Ad bought out the Port Ewen Dairy and opened his own.

Jones took an interest in sports while still a youth. He was a pitcher for the Shield's Hotel team of Lackawack. Even earlier he took up bowling.

The first Jones-sponsored bowling team appeared in 1935. A couple of years later came the baseball, followed by softball and basketball outfits. Since then it's been a continuous cycle.

The Jones baseball teams have won no less than five City Baseball League championships. The J-D keglers have won innumerable local titles and one Hudson Valley League crown—in 1946-47.

This season Jones has reached a new high in the number of teams sponsored — eight. He can't, however, recall how many he's underwritten in the past 20 years. No doubt it's at least 100.

One year he took a team to Los Angeles to compete in the ABC championships. In other seasons Ad and his trundlers have visited Detroit, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Syracuse, Buffalo and New York city. Each time Jones has footed the bill.

Ad has served as Kingston Bowling Association president five times. He's been a KBA Board of Directors member for 19 of its 20 years, and has twice been Hudson Valley League president.

With this record, there's no question that he is the "Mr. Bowling" of Kingston.

Jones recalled the time he beat one of bowling's all-time greats, Andy Varipapa, in a three-game match at the YMCA alleys.

"Varipapa had just beaten Johnny Ferraro," Ad said. "We halved the first two games of the set. Then in the 10th frame of the final one Andy split while I struck out."

Baseball further stirred the memories of the dairyman with the big hands and the warm, friendly brown eyes.

"I remember watching a game in Branch Rickey's box seats at Ebbets Field. It was the year that Duke Snider and Gil Hodges had been brought up from the minors. Even then Rickey tabbed Snider as a future great."

Jones also recalled the appearance of Babe Ruth at the old Fair Grounds. That was in the heyday of The Bambino's career.

Another memory was the wartime game between the Kingston Recreations and the Brooklyn Dodgers. That game drew 6,500 people—the largest crowd ever here.

"Bill Lohrman pitched for us that night. We gave 'em a good fight before an error lost the game." That was the night Leo Durocher, instead of making the trip to Kingston, stayed at a race track. Larry MacPhail fired him the same night.

Baseball has had its disappointments for Jones. Chief of these was the late lamented Canadian-American League, in which he invested a sizeable sum.

"I thought the Can-Am league would go in Kingston," Jones says. "Perhaps it folded because we're too close to New York city. Also, television and radio didn't help."

Sports haven't been Jones' only interest. He has been chairman of the county March of Dimes campaign for the past five years.

The big question in the Jones story is why? Why spend so much time, energy and one's own money for no material rewards greater than a denful of trophies.

Ad's answer:

"If I've kept even one boy out of mischief, it's worth everything."

He continued, "Besides, I've always liked to mix with the kind of fellows who are on my teams; there's a lot of good fellowship amongst us. I've met plenty of fine people through sports."

Ad concedes that sports take a lot of time.

"I guess I could have taken care of my business a little better."

"And my wife thinks sometimes that sports interfere." Ad and Charlotte Ostrander of Edgewood, Greene county, were married on Sept. 29, 1917. They have four children—Evelyn, Bob, Ruth and Ronnie—plus some grandchildren.

The Jones were once a bowling family with father, mother and a son and daughter each participating.

Ad may spend more time at the business now. But he'll never get too far away; the Athletic Field, where his City League team performs on summer evenings, is 400 feet from the new dairy. And the city's two bowling alleys are only a few blocks away.

So it looks like Ad Jones, who's been in sports most of his life, will continue along the same line.

And of the past, he says "I'd do it all over again."

Washington Team's Lineups Listed for Globetrotter Tilt

There won't be many professional basketball teams taking the measure of the powerful Washington (D. C.) Generals who play the famed Harlem Globetrotters Monday, Nov. 28, at the municipal auditorium.

Owner-coach-player Louis (Red) Klotz, the mighty mite of former Villanova College fame has had some fine Generals in the past, but the 1955-56 edition shapes up as the best.

KLOTZ, a 5 foot 7 inch playmaking wizard, has another little guy who is great in every sense of the word.

That's Bennie Purcell, 5-9, who won All-America mention while starring for Murray (Ky.) State Teachers.

The two mites dominate a squad otherwise well blessed with height, together with a potent and clever attack. Center Jerry Fowler from Missouri U. is 6 feet 9.

HERM SCHAYES, a former star at Colorado A&M is back on the team, functioning at forward with Bill Scott, 6-3, Western Kentucky; Billy Schyman, 6-4, DePaul; Fred Iehle, 6-3, one of the stars of the great LaSalle University championship teams of recent seasons.

Klotz and Purcell are first string guards. Back of them are Ken Trickey, 6-1, from Middle Tennessee State College; Jim Fay, 6-5, St. Ambrose, and Bob Derbyshire, 6-2, a sensational prep out of Atlantic City, N. J., High.

The club has speed, cleverness and a scoring punch and will push the Globetrotters to the limit.

BIRD SHOOTING TIP

GAME BIRDS ARE LIKE OTHER GAME IN THAT THEY INVARIABLY HEAD FOR COVER WHEN FLUSHED. THUS, WHEN A HUNTER WORKS AN OPEN FIELD HE SHOULD BE PREPARED TO SWING TOWARD THE NEAREST COVER. IT'S BEST TO KEEP SEVERAL YARDS AWAY FROM COVER'S BORDER, FOR IF BIRDS ARE FLUSHED, THE HEAD-ON SHOTS ARE MOST DIFFICULT.

might be made sooner "if the creek subsides."

THE LETTER to Sen. Wicks, signed by E. B. Hughes, deputy superintendent, said "the bridge has been thoroughly inspected above the waterline but up to the present moment the water has been too high, muddy and swift to send a diver down to investigate possible undermining of the abutment."

Senator Wicks, in his letter to Superintendent Johnson, stated a much-repeated suspicion, that because the two towns affected by the bridge have Republican supervisors who are up for re-election, work on the span was being delayed by the Democratic state department for political purposes and to embarass the two Republican supervisors.

Mr. Hughes' letter said "any suspicion that the bridge is being kept closed for political reasons is utterly without foundation. "In this decision, as in others, the department is concerned for the safety of the traveling public and is swayed by no outside pressures from any quarter," the letter said.

THE SPAN connects St. Remy and Eddyville on Route 213 which is much traveled. It is a link between the townships of Esopus and Ulster.

Supervisors Eckert and Bush had been informed by state representatives that no work could be done on the bridge until an inspection was made. They reported it had been nearly three weeks since the bridge was damaged and no inspection had been made. The supervisors pointed out that residents have to travel long distances at great inconvenience while the bridge is closed to traffic.

The text of Mr. Hughes' letter to Sen. Wicks follows:

"IN THE ABSENCE of the superintendent and due to the urgency of the problem, I am taking the liberty of replying to your letter of November 2, concerning the closing of the Eddyville bridge.

"As you state in your letter, the Department of Public Works has closed this bridge because of the belief that damage has been done to the abutment by the October flood. The bridge has been thoroughly inspected above the waterline but up to the present moment the water has been too high, muddy and swift to enable us to send a diver down to investigate possible undermining of the abutment.

"OUR MAINTENANCE forces are keeping a close watch on water conditions and at the very first opportunity a diver will be sent down. If it is found that the bridge is safe for traffic, it will be opened immediately.

"I am confident that neither you nor any of the local residents would wish us to open this bridge prematurely and thus risk a major catastrophe entailing possible loss of life. Any suspicion that the bridge is being kept closed for political reasons is utterly without foundation. In this decision, as in others, the department is concerned for the safety of the traveling public and is swayed by no outside pressures from any quarter."

Alligerville Man Reported Flood For London Paper

Stories of the October flood in Ulster county gained international attention with publication of accounts in the London Daily Telegraph and Morning Post by Edwin Tetlow, special correspondent who maintains a home at Alligerville.

The Freeman today received a copy of the Daily Telegraph of Monday, Oct. 17, in which Mr. Tetlow, below a High Falls dateline, told of the havoc wrought by the floodwaters in the county.

MR. TETLOW'S account said in part: "A few hundred yards from where I am telephoning the complete central area of the township of Rosendale has had to be abandoned because water is flowing in mad strength through the main street."

"One big frame house stands now on the opposite side of the road to that it occupied yesterday. It has simply been lifted and dumped sideways on the other side of the road and there is water lapping the windows of the upper story."

THE EYEWITNESS account by Mr. Tetlow told of the destruction done by the frenzied waters of the Rondout Creek and vividly described the damage to his own property in Alligerville.

As for the Kingston aspect of the flood, Mr. Tetlow wrote: "In Kingston the whole street flanking the Rondout was evacuated. Tradesmen and shopkeepers with lorries spent the night moving people's furniture to storage."

Enlarging Small Room

Small rooms can look big if they're smartly decorated. Tricks that will help include good lighting of all corners, simplified walls and backgrounds, use of a large mirror on one wall, and placement of furniture around a room so that it hugs the walls.

Latin Block For Split on Atomic Group

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The 20-nation Latin American bloc in the UN threatened today to split with the United States over the makeup of an international committee to study the effects of atomic radiation.

The difference arose last night in the UN Political Committee. U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth surprised Latin American delegates by indicating that the United States would reject an appeal from Ecuador to enlarge the proposed 11-member scientific group. Ecuador wants two Spanish-speaking nations included, among others.

He said the United States felt a committee of more than 11 members would be unwieldy and could defeat the whole purpose of the project.

LATIN AMERICAN diplomats said privately that, unless the United States changes its views, it cannot expect their support on the western-backed proposal to set up an international committee of scientists to study the dangers of atomic radiation.

There has been growing dissatisfaction among the Spanish speaking nations over the western proposal which would name 11 countries to choose scientists for the atomic radiation study committee.

The resolution lists Australia, Brazil, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Japan, Sweden, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Portuguese-speaking Brazil, although on the list, has made it known that it supports the Ecuadorean appeal.

Ecuadorean Ambassador Jose Vincente Trujillo brought matters to a head when he asked the sponsors to add Argentina, Mexico, Belgium and Egypt to their list.

THE QUESTION of makeup already has been under fire from the Soviet bloc which insists that Red China and Romania be put on the list. India and several other Arab Asian nations have criticized what they call limited membership.

Another stumbling block to agreement has been Russia's insistence that the western resolution include a paragraph calling for an end to nuclear weapons tests and eventual banning of the weapons themselves.

Beacon Assured State Would Operate Ferry

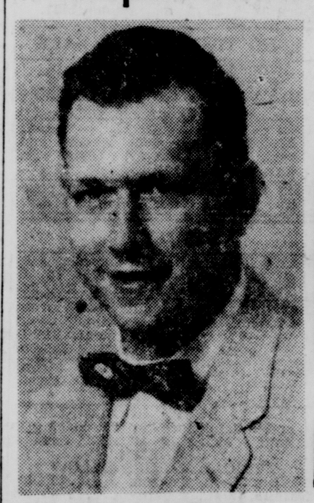

Assurance that the state "is prepared to take over, if necessary," operation of the Beacon-Newburgh ferry to keep it running until such time as a Beacon-Newburgh bridge is constructed, has been given State Democratic Chairman Michael H. Prendergast.

Mr. Prendergast, who also is state director of the Division of Safety, told a Dutchess county Democrats meeting in Beacon Thursday evening that he had received that assurance from State Superintendent of Public Works John W. Johnson.

He told Beacon that it need not fear curtailment of ferry service to Newburgh.

Washington Team's Lineups Listed for Globetrotter Tilt

There won't be many professional basketball teams taking the measure of the powerful Washington (D. C.) Generals who play the famed Harlem Globetrotters Monday, Nov. 28, at the municipal auditorium.

Owner-coach-player Louis (Red) Klotz, the mighty mite of former Villanova College fame has had some fine Generals in the past, but the 1955-56 edition shapes up as the best.

KLOTZ, a 5 foot 7 inch playmaking wizard, has another little guy who is great in every sense of the word.

That's Bennie Purcell, 5-9, who won All-America mention while starring for Murray (Ky.) State Teachers.

The two mites dominate a squad otherwise well blessed with height, together with a potent and clever attack. Center Jerry Fowler from Missouri U. is 6 feet 9.

HERM SCHAYES, a former star at Colorado A&M is back on the team, functioning at forward with Bill Scott, 6-3, Western Kentucky; Billy Schyman, 6-4, DePaul; Fred Iehle, 6-3, one of the stars of the great LaSalle University championship teams of recent seasons.

Klotz and Purcell are first string guards. Back of them are Ken Trickey, 6-1, from Middle Tennessee State College; Jim Fay, 6-5, St. Ambrose, and Bob Derbyshire, 6-2, a sensational prep out of Atlantic City, N. J., High.

The club has speed, cleverness and a scoring punch and will push the Globetrotters to the limit.

BIRD SHOOTING TIP

GAME BIRDS ARE LIKE OTHER GAME IN THAT THEY INVARIABLY HEAD FOR COVER WHEN FLUSHED. THUS, WHEN A HUNTER WORKS AN OPEN FIELD HE SHOULD BE PREPARED TO SWING TOWARD THE NEAREST COVER. IT'S BEST TO KEEP SEVERAL YARDS AWAY FROM COVER'S BORDER, FOR IF BIRDS ARE FLUSHED, THE HEAD-ON SHOTS ARE MOST DIFFICULT.

might be made sooner "if the creek subsides."

THE LETTER to Sen. Wicks, signed by E. B. Hughes, deputy superintendent, said "the bridge has been thoroughly inspected above the waterline but up to the present moment the water has been too high, muddy and swift to send a diver down to investigate possible undermining of the abutment."

Senator Wicks, in his letter to Superintendent Johnson, stated a much-repeated suspicion, that because the two towns affected by the bridge have Republican supervisors who are up for reelection, work on the span was being delayed by the Democratic state department for political purposes and to embarass the two Republican supervisors.

Mr. Hughes' letter said "any suspicion that the bridge is being kept closed for political reasons is utterly without foundation. "In this decision, as in others, the department is concerned for the safety of the traveling public and is swayed by no outside pressures from any quarter," the letter said.

THE SPAN connects St. Remy and Eddyville on Route 213 which is much traveled. It is a link between the townships of Esopus and Ulster.

Supervisors Eckert and Bush had been informed by state representatives that no work could be done on the bridge until an inspection was made. They reported it had been nearly three weeks since the bridge was damaged and no inspection had been made. The supervisors pointed out that residents have to travel long distances at great inconvenience while the bridge is closed to traffic.

The text of Mr. Hughes' letter to Sen. Wicks follows:

"IN THE ABSENCE of the superintendent and due to the urgency of the problem, I am taking the liberty of replying to your letter of November 2, concerning the closing of the Eddyville bridge.

"As you state in your letter, the Department of Public Works has closed this bridge because of the belief that damage has been done to the abutment by the October flood. The bridge has been thoroughly inspected above the waterline but up to the present moment the water has been too high, muddy and swift to enable us to send a diver down to investigate possible undermining of the abutment.

"OUR MAINTENANCE forces are keeping a close watch on water conditions and at the very first opportunity a diver will be sent down. If it is found that the bridge is safe for traffic, it will be opened immediately.

"I am confident that neither you nor any of the local residents would wish us to open this bridge prematurely and thus risk a major catastrophe entailing possible loss of life. Any suspicion that the bridge is being kept closed for political reasons is utterly without foundation. In this decision, as in others, the department is concerned for the safety of the traveling public and is swayed by no outside pressures from any quarter."

Alligerville Man Reported Flood For London Paper

Stories of the October flood in Ulster county gained international attention with publication of accounts in the London Daily Telegraph and Morning Post by Edwin Tetlow, special correspondent who maintains a home at Alligerville.

The Freeman today received a copy of the Daily Telegraph of Monday, Oct. 17, in which Mr. Tetlow, below a High Falls dateline, told of the havoc wrought by the floodwaters in the county.

MR. TETLOW'S account said in part: "A few hundred yards from where I am telephoning the complete central area of the township of Rosendale has had to be abandoned because water is flowing in mad strength through the main street."

"One big frame house stands now on the opposite side of the road to that it occupied yesterday. It has simply been lifted and dumped sideways on the other side of the road and there is water lapping the windows of the upper story."

THE EYEWITNESS account by Mr. Tetlow told of the destruction done by the frenzied waters of the Rondout Creek and vividly described the damage to his own property in Alligerville.

As for the Kingston aspect of the flood, Mr. Tetlow wrote: "In Kingston the whole street flanking the Rondout was evacuated. Tradesmen and shopkeepers with lorries spent the night moving people's furniture to storage."

Enlarging Small Room

Small rooms can look big if they're smartly decorated. Tricks that will help include good lighting of all corners, simplified walls and backgrounds, use of a large mirror on one wall, and placement of furniture around a room so that it hugs the walls.

Latin Block For Split on Atomic Group

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The 20-nation Latin American bloc in the UN threatened today to split with the United States over the makeup of an international committee to study the effects of atomic radiation.

The difference arose last night in the UN Political Committee. U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth surprised Latin American delegates by indicating that the United States would reject an appeal from Ecuador to enlarge the proposed 11-member scientific group. Ecuador wants two Spanish-speaking nations included, among others.

He said the United States felt a committee of more than 11 members would be unwieldy and could defeat the whole purpose of the project.

LATIN AMERICAN diplomats said privately that, unless the United States changes its views, it cannot expect their support on the western-backed proposal to set up an international committee of scientists to study the dangers of atomic radiation.

There has been growing dissatisfaction among the Spanish speaking nations over the western proposal which would name 11 countries to choose scientists for the atomic radiation study committee.

The resolution lists Australia, Brazil, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Japan, Sweden, Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Portuguese-speaking Brazil, although on the list, has made it known that it supports the Ecuadorean appeal.

Ecuadorean Ambassador Jose Vincente Trujillo brought matters to a head when he asked the sponsors to add Argentina, Mexico, Belgium and Egypt to their list.

THE QUESTION of makeup already has been under fire from the Soviet bloc which insists that Red China and Romania be put on the list. India and several other Arab Asian nations have criticized what they call limited membership.

Another stumbling block to agreement has been Russia's insistence that the western resolution include a paragraph calling for an end to nuclear weapons tests and eventual banning of the weapons themselves.

Beacon Assured State Would Operate Ferry

Assurance that the state "is prepared to take over, if necessary," operation of the Beacon-Newburgh ferry to keep it running until such time as a Beacon-Newburgh bridge is constructed, has been given State Democratic Chairman Michael H. Prendergast.

Mr. Prendergast, who also is state director of the Division of Safety, told a Dutchess county Democrats meeting in Beacon Thursday evening that he had received that assurance from State Superintendent of Public Works John W. Johnson.

He told Beacon that it need not fear curtailment of ferry service to Newburgh.

Truck Driver Is Reported Hurt in Morning Mishap

A Hannibal, N. Y. truck driver received treatment and X-rays at Kingston Hospital following a truck-car accident on Broadway near East Chester street at 4:20 a. m. today, police reported.

Donald H. Smith, 33, owner and operator of a 1951 tractor, hauling a trailer owned by S. Webster Reid of Red Hook, claimed injuries to his neck, police said.

THE REPORT said Smith was traveling north on Broadway and stopped for a traffic light at East Chester street. A 1951 sedan owned by Mary Johnson, 69 Liberty street, operated by Peter A. Johnson, 31, same address, was also traveling north on Broadway. Police said the Johnson vehicle was in collision with the rear of the tractor-trailer.

The report said the tractor-trailer sustained possible hidden damages while the Johnson car was damaged on the front end and sustained possible hidden damages.

Johnson claimed no injuries at the time of the accident, the report added.

Cooperative Farm Dinner Is Set For November 15

Annual meeting notices have been sent to nearly 400 Ulster county farmers for the joint annual meeting of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and the Farmers Production Credit Association which will be held Nov. 15 beginning with a complimentary turkey dinner at the New Hurley Reformed Church Hall, located on Route 208, about three miles north of Wallkill.

Secretary-treasurer C. Kenneth Taber announces that both Cooperatives have had a busy year making short term Production Credit loans and Federal Land Bank loans to Ulster county farmers. A full report will be given at this meting of the past year's business. There will be an election of directors for both organizations.

Directors whose terms expire in the Ulster National Farm Loan Association are: C. Chester DuMond, Jr. of Ulster Park and Eber H. Coy of Ardonia. Also a director will be elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Michael Moriello, New Paltz, whose tragic death was a shock to Ulster county people last spring.

IN THE FARMERS Production Credit Association the terms as directors expire for John L. Schonmaker of Accord and Charles Hufcut of Circleville.

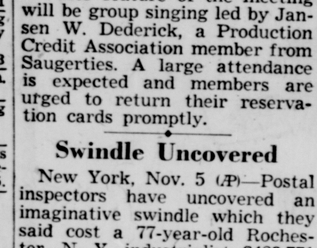

Other feature of the meeting will be group singing led by Jansen W. Dederick, a Production Credit Association member from Saugerties. A large attendance is expected and members are urged to return their reservation cards promptly.

Swindle Uncovered

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Postal inspectors have uncovered an imaginative swindle which they said cost a 77-year-old Rochester, N. Y. industrialist $423,771 over the past four years. The scheme was disclosed yesterday following the arrest of Patrick H. Lennon, 50, of New York. Authorities said he was an ex-convict and "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time." Lennon was described by post office men as the principal figure in a swindle in which the victim was baited by the hope of collecting millions of bogus patents left over from a firm that fell in the stock market crash of 1929. The victim was identified as Augustine J. Cunningham, president of a Rochester firm that manufactures plumbing and electrical equipment. The company was founded 116 years ago by Cunningham's grandfather.

The tuba, a musical wind instrument of the saxhorn family, has the lowest pitch of any instrument in the orchestra.

GM Scholarship Will Be Offered Students

Wallkill, Nov. 4—Wallkill Central School senior students are being offered an opportunity to compete in the General Motors National Scholarship Plan, according to John Gardiner, high school principal.

The plan, initiated early in 1955, provides for 100 four year scholarships, at least one in every state and 50 at large, at any college or university of the successful contestant's choice and in any field of study he may select.

Registration for the second year of the plan is under way now. Eligible to participate are high school seniors, both boys and girls, who are United States citizens, and who plan to take the College Entrance Board examination for admission to a school of their choice or who arrange to take the examination in order to enter the competition for a General Motors scholarship award.

Selection of award winners in the General Motors plan will be the responsibility of a group of leading educators representing various parts of the country.

Full details about the General Motors plan, including registration dates for the examinations are available to interested students from Mr. Gardiner's office.

Praises Hirschell Mayes

Nov. 4, 1955.

Editor, The Freeman:

As Election Day draws near, it is our pride and pleasure to congratulate the people of the First Ward for having chosen Alderman Hirschell Mayes as their candidate to succeed himself in the Common Council of the City of Kingston.

This letter is being written, and we ask that you publish it, as a medium of thanks to this fine public servant for his vital interest in all phases of government. We sincerely appreciate what he has done for us in the Fifth Ward in cooperation with Samuel J. Perry, our own Alderman.

Mr. Perry, as you know, is unopposed in this year's election because of his policy of complete representation of his people.

We feel that Mr. Mayes deserves the support of every voter in his ward, the First, because he does likewise. A man of fine character, Mr. Mayes is honest, sincere, truthful and interested in the welfare of the taxpayers.

It is fortunate the people of the First Ward have a candidate of Mr. Mayes' calibre, and we feel certain he will be returned to office by a nice majority.

Sincerely yours,
R. H. VAN VALKENBURGH,
President
Fifth Ward Community Association.

7 Escapees Are Back in Prison

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 5 (AP)—Seven of 10 convicts who bored through concrete and dirt to liberty late Thursday were back in the Washington State Penitentiary today and an intensified search was being made for the three still at large.

Posses rounded up the seven yesterday in groups of four and three, with all the men surrendering meekly despite their reputations for toughness.

FOUR WERE picked up as they hiked along railroad tracks in a brushy area 20 miles north of here before noon yesterday after a night spent in a farmer's outbuildings.

Last night, approximately 24 hours after they had slipped out the mouth of a 60-foot tunnel outside the prison's west wall, three more were picked up at Milton-Freewater, Ore., 10 miles south of Walla Walla.

The last three included William B. Bracey, 20-year-old Tacoma youth who slew his mother two years ago in a fit of pique because she declined to let him use the family automobile. Bracey exhibited no truculence when stopped by city police on a Milto-Freewater street.

NEITHER DID his companions, John Munn, 24, a 20-year-sentence robber, and Arthur Lee Walker, 28, serving 15 years for grand larceny.

Still at large and believed to be wandering somewhere in the rolling farmlands which surround this prison town for scores of miles are three robbers, all sent to Walla Walla for 20 year terms.

They are William James, 37, William Paul Lee, 42, and Ralph E. Lockerby, 25.

Mother of Slain Sportsman Says Both Were Happy

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Police quote Mrs. William Woodward Sr. as saying her dead son and his blonde wife were "a very happy couple." The millionaire-sportsman was shot to death last Sunday by his wife.

Nassau county detectives who questioned Woodward's grief-stricken mother yesterday at her New York city home also said she told them:

"I AM VERY FOND of my daughter-inlaw. While I grieve for my son, I also grieve for the position in which his wife finds herself."

The 35-year-old Woodward's wife, Ann, said she fired a shotgun into the dark hallway of their Oyster Bay, L. I., home at a noise she said she believed had been made by a prowler.

Woodward fell dead in the doorway of his separate bedroom 10 feet across the hall.

BALLISTICS tests on the death gun yesterday confirmed statements by Mrs. Woodward about where she was standing when she fired.

In other developments, Nassau county Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said nothing thus far in the case has come up "to change my opinion that the slaying was accidental."

Dutchess Man Held On Disorderly Charge

The report said headquarters received a call that a man was prowling in the rear of 10 Linderman avenue. Anderson was arrested at that address by Officers John Crespino and William Snyder.

Bail was posted for an appearance in City Court on Nov. 12.

Truck Driver Is Reported Hurt in Morning Mishap

A Hannibal, N. Y. truck driver received treatment and X-rays at Kingston Hospital following a truck-car accident on Broadway near East Chester street at 4:20 a. m. today, police reported.

Donald H. Smith, 33, owner and operator of a 1951 tractor, hauling a trailer owned by S. Webster Reid of Red Hook, claimed injuries to his neck, police said.

THE REPORT said Smith was traveling north on Broadway and stopped for a traffic light at East Chester street. A 1951 sedan owned by Mary Johnson, 69 Liberty street, operated by Peter A. Johnson, 31, same address, was also traveling north on Broadway. Police said the Johnson vehicle was in collision with the rear of the tractor-trailer.

The report said the tractor-trailer sustained possible hidden damages while the Johnson car was damaged on the front end and sustained possible hidden damages.

Johnson claimed no injuries at the time of the accident, the report added.

Cooperative Farm Dinner Is Set For November 15

Annual meeting notices have been sent to nearly 400 Ulster county farmers for the joint annual meeting of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and the Farmers Production Credit Association which will be held Nov. 15 beginning with a complimentary turkey dinner at the New Hurley Reformed Church Hall, located on Route 208, about three miles north of Wallkill.

Secretary-treasurer C. Kenneth Taber announces that both Cooperatives have had a busy year making short term Production Credit loans and Federal Land Bank loans to Ulster county farmers. A full report will be given at this meting of the past year's business. There will be an election of directors for both organizations.

Directors whose terms expire in the Ulster National Farm Loan Association are: C. Chester DuMond, Jr. of Ulster Park and Eber H. Coy of Ardonia. Also a director will be elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Michael Moriello, New Paltz, whose tragic death was a shock to Ulster county people last spring.

IN THE FARMERS Production Credit Association the terms as directors expire for John L. Schonmaker of Accord and Charles Hufcut of Circleville.

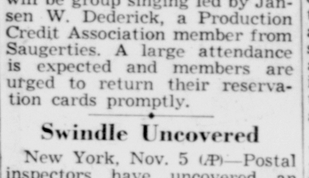

Other feature of the meeting will be group singing led by Jansen W. Dederick, a Production Credit Association member from Saugerties. A large attendance is expected and members are urged to return their reservation cards promptly.

Swindle Uncovered

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Postal inspectors have uncovered an imaginative swindle which they said cost a 77-year-old Rochester, N. Y. industrialist $423,771 over the past four years. The scheme was disclosed yesterday following the arrest of Patrick H. Lennon, 50, of New York. Authorities said he was an ex-convict and "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time." Lennon was described by post office men as the principal figure in a swindle in which the victim was baited by the hope of collecting millions of bogus patents left over from a firm that fell in the stock market crash of 1929. The victim was identified as Augustine J. Cunningham, president of a Rochester firm that manufactures plumbing and electrical equipment. The company was founded 116 years ago by Cunningham's grandfather.

The tuba, a musical wind instrument of the saxhorn family, has the lowest pitch of any instrument in the orchestra.

GM Scholarship Will Be Offered Students

Wallkill, Nov. 4—Wallkill Central School senior students are being offered an opportunity to compete in the General Motors National Scholarship Plan, according to John Gardiner, high school principal.

The plan, initiated early in 1955, provides for 100 four year scholarships, at least one in every state and 50 at large, at any college or university of the successful contestant's choice and in any field of study he may select.

Registration for the second year of the plan is under way now. Eligible to participate are high school seniors, both boys and girls, who are United States citizens, and who plan to take the College Entrance Board examination for admission to a school of their choice or who arrange to take the examination in order to enter the competition for a General Motors scholarship award.

Selection of award winners in the General Motors plan will be the responsibility of a group of leading educators representing various parts of the country.

Full details about the General Motors plan, including registration dates for the examinations are available to interested students from Mr. Gardiner's office.

Praises Hirschell Mayes

Nov. 4, 1955.

Editor, The Freeman:

As Election Day draws near, it is our pride and pleasure to congratulate the people of the First Ward for having chosen Alderman Hirschell Mayes as their candidate to succeed himself in the Common Council of the City of Kingston.

This letter is being written, and we ask that you publish it, as a medium of thanks to this fine public servant for his vital interest in all phases of government. We sincerely appreciate what he has done for us in the Fifth Ward in cooperation with Samuel J. Perry, our own Alderman.

Mr. Perry, as you know, is unopposed in this year's election because of his policy of complete representation of his people.

We feel that Mr. Mayes deserves the support of every voter in his ward, the First, because he does likewise. A man of fine character, Mr. Mayes is honest, sincere, truthful and interested in the welfare of the taxpayers.

It is fortunate the people of the First Ward have a candidate of Mr. Mayes' calibre, and we feel certain he will be returned to office by a nice majority.

Sincerely yours,
R. H. VAN VALKENBURGH,
President
Fifth Ward Community Association.

7 Escapees Are Back in Prison

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 5 (AP)—Seven of 10 convicts who bored through concrete and dirt to liberty late Thursday were back in the Washington State Penitentiary today and an intensified search was being made for the three still at large.

Posses rounded up the seven yesterday in groups of four and three, with all the men surrendering meekly despite their reputations for toughness.

FOUR WERE picked up as they hiked along railroad tracks in a brushy area 20 miles north of here before noon yesterday after a night spent in a farmer's outbuildings.

Last night, approximately 24 hours after they had slipped out the mouth of a 60-foot tunnel outside the prison's west wall, three more were picked up at Milton-Freewater, Ore., 10 miles south of Walla Walla.

The last three included William B. Bracey, 20-year-old Tacoma youth who slew his mother two years ago in a fit of pique because she declined to let him use the family automobile. Bracey exhibited no truculence when stopped by city police on a Milto-Freewater street.

NEITHER DID his companions, John Munn, 24, a 20-year-sentence robber, and Arthur Lee Walker, 28, serving 15 years for grand larceny.

Still at large and believed to be wandering somewhere in the rolling farmlands which surround this prison town for scores of miles are three robbers, all sent to Walla Walla for 20 year terms.

They are William James, 37, William Paul Lee, 42, and Ralph E. Lockerby, 25.

Mother of Slain Sportsman Says Both Were Happy

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Police quote Mrs. William Woodward Sr. as saying her dead son and his blonde wife were "a very happy couple." The millionaire-sportsman was shot to death last Sunday by his wife.

Nassau county detectives who questioned Woodward's grief-stricken mother yesterday at her New York city home also said she told them:

"I AM VERY FOND of my daughter-inlaw. While I grieve for my son, I also grieve for the position in which his wife finds herself."

The 35-year-old Woodward's wife, Ann, said she fired a shotgun into the dark hallway of their Oyster Bay, L. I., home at a noise she said she believed had been made by a prowler.

Woodward fell dead in the doorway of his separate bedroom 10 feet across the hall.

BALLISTICS tests on the death gun yesterday confirmed statements by Mrs. Woodward about where she was standing when she fired.

In other developments, Nassau county Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said nothing thus far in the case has come up "to change my opinion that the slaying was accidental."

Dutchess Man Held On Disorderly Charge

Bail was posted for an appearance in City Court on Nov. 12.

THE RECORD SHOP: Two labors of love have culminated in unique record packages. Sidney Reisberg, who is editor of Book-Records, has combined sound and sight in "The Pueblo Indians in Story, Song and Dance." An Indian narrator, Swift Eagle, and an Indian illustrator, Yeffe Kimball, have put together a book-record that will appeal to children and adults, too.

Larry Miller, who calls himself "The Rebel Bard," has poured five years and thousands of dollars into "The Rebellion." Victor Jory reads Miller's poems about the Civil War, and they are illustrated by glowing paintings done by John Fulton, which can be slipped out and framed.

The demands on a gal singer are pretty strenuous, especially a good one. There are tours, personal appearances, engagements hither, yon and thither. When she's young and unattached all this is exciting. But when, like Peggy Lee, she has a home and a growing daughter, this side of the career loses much of its appeal.

"I may quit singing on the road entirely," Peggy says. "My daughter wants me to stay home. She makes a long face whenever I leave. And a mother can stand just so many long faces."

Nicki is now 11. She likes to have mother around, and mother likes to be around. It's a fairly normal feeling.

"She's such a sweet girl," says mother, her eyes lighting up. "She hates me to go on the road, but she'll always do something sweet anyhow. Once she bought a book and put in in my suitcase, together with her favorite doll. When I unpacked and found them, I almost cried.

"Another time, my canary, Jo-Jo, which I loved very much, died. I was heartbroken. Well, Nicki secretly saved up from her allowance and bought me a canary that was an exact duplicate of Jo-Jo. She bought a cage and bird food and a book on the care of canaries, too. Now, wasn't that something?"

So you can see why Peggy Lee would like to stay home. Fortunately, she's reached the position where she can forgo the road and still make out. Her records, her movies, her TV appearances would keep her in bird seed.

And, of course, Peggy Lee is an accomplished songwriter, too. Her two biggest hits were "It's a Good Day" and "Manana." There are nice little royalties coming in from those, and, and Peggy says, "every little royalty helps."

She started writing as a youthful poet — still does write poems —and that led to lyrics. She talks as though she wishes she could stick to poetry entirely, although there's still a smoldering desire to do a Broadway play.

"I've tried to break away and do a play so often," she says, "but there's always something coming up. I'd do a good play, whether or not there was any music in it. I'm going to try some summer stock next summer."

Unless something comes up, that is.

Two Men Hurt In Friday Crash

Two Kingston men claimed injuries following a three-car accident at Broadway and Cedar street on Friday at 5 p. m., police reported.

Claiming neck injuries were Edward Caughey, 39, of 74 Hunter street and George Nettle, 51, of 34 Hunter street.

POLICE SAID Caughey was operating a 1953 pick-up truck, owned by the Kingston Oil Supply of Sleightsburg while Nettle was operating his 1952 sedan. The third car involved was owned and operated by Ronald George Sleight of Port Ewen. Police said all three cars were headed south on Broadway.

The report said Caughey stopped the pick-up truck and Nettle stopped his vehicle behind him. The Sleight car struck Nettle's sedan and forced it into the pick-up truck driven by Caughey.

The pick-up truck sustained damage to the rear while the Nettle vehicle was towed away. Police said the Sleight car sustained damage to the entire front end.

PSC Orders $44,360 Refund in Genesee

Albany, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today ordered the Pavillion Natural Gas Co. of Pavilion, Genesee county, to refund $44,360 to its customers.

The refund represents money collected under provisional rates established Aug. 3, 1953. Examiner Morris A. Goldfarb reported to the commission that during the 18-month period ended last June 30, revenue from the rates exceeded a fair return on the companys' rate base.

Goldfarb said a pension plan established by the company last June increased operation costs so that the current rates would no longer be excessive.

Reiterates Regret

Newark, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner had a farewell talk yesterday with outgoing Waterfront Commissioner George P. Hays and reiterated his regret over Hays' resignation. Hays, a retired army lieutenant general, was asked to resign by Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as New York's representative on the bi-state waterfront commission and did so. The request drew oblique criticism from Meyner, also a Democrat, and outright denunciation from New York state Republicans.

State GOP Chiefs Urge Passage of Amendment No. 3

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Republican leaders today urged voters in next Tuesday's elections to approve a constitutional amendment to extend absentee registration and voting privileges.

The proposed amendment will appear as No. 3 among 10 amendments and one proposition to be voted on next Tuesday.

It would extend absentee voting privileges to the sick and disabled and absentee registration privileges to persons sick, disabled or away from their homes on business.

THE JOINT statement was issued by Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate, Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino of the Assembly, State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits, Chairman Austin Erwin of the Senate Finance Committee and Chairman William H. Mackenzie of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

In Troy yesterday, the Record newspapers recommended that the voters reject all 10 proposed amendments and the single proposition.

Dwight Marvin, editor of the Morning Record and the afternoon Times-Record, told a reporter he did not object to all the amendments. But he said there were so many they would confuse the public.

Marvin said his newspapers' position served as a "rebuke to the Legislature for trying to create a referendum kind of government."

AS FAR AS was known here, the Troy papers were the only dailies in the state advocating a general "no."

Marvin said he was opposed primarily to Amendments 1 and 7. The first would authorize a $750,000,000 bond issue and put into effect motor-fuel tax increases. The other would allow construction of a dam at Panther Mountain in the Adirondack Forest Preserve.

In Elizabethtown, the Adirondack Park Assn. announced support of Amendment 1.

CHECK YOUR COVERAGE....
Many people carry "just a little" insurance just to ease their minds.
But insurance should really INSURE. In case of disaster, you want more than, say, a fifth enough or half enough to rebuild your house or pay off a damage suit or meet some other loss.
Many people forget that it would cost much more to replace their home and furnishings if they had a fire. Many people forget they may be sued for perhaps tens of thousands of dollars if they kill or injure someone with their car. Many people carry too little liability insurance.

State GOP Chiefs Urge Passage of Amendment No. 3

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Republican leaders today urged voters in next Tuesday's elections to approve a constitutional amendment to extend absentee registration and voting privileges.

The proposed amendment will appear as No. 3 among 10 amendments and one proposition to be voted on next Tuesday.

It would extend absentee voting privileges to the sick and disabled and absentee registration privileges to persons sick, disabled or away from their homes on business.

THE JOINT statement was issued by Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate, Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino of the Assembly, State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits, Chairman Austin Erwin of the Senate Finance Committee and Chairman William H. Mackenzie of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

In Troy yesterday, the Record newspapers recommended that the voters reject all 10 proposed amendments and the single proposition.

Dwight Marvin, editor of the Morning Record and the afternoon Times-Record, told a reporter he did not object to all the amendments. But he said there were so many they would confuse the public.

Marvin said his newspapers' position served as a "rebuke to the Legislature for trying to create a referendum kind of government."

AS FAR AS was known here, the Troy papers were the only dailies in the state advocating a general "no."

Marvin said he was opposed primarily to Amendments 1 an 7. The first would authorize $750,000,000 bond issue and pu into effect motor-fuel tax ir creases. The other would allo construction of a dam at Panthe Mountain in the Adirondac Forest Preserve.

In Elizabethtown, the Adiron dack Park Assn. announced sup port of Amendment 1.

CHECK YOUR COVERAGE....

Many people carry "just a little" insurance just to ease their minds.

But insurance should really INSURE. In case of disaster, you want more than, say, a fifth enough or half enough to rebuild your house or pay off a damage suit or meet some other loss.

Many people forget that it would cost much more to replace their home and furnishings if they had a fire. Many people forget they may be sued for perhaps tens of thousands of dollars if they kill or injure someone with their car. Many people carry too little liability insurance.

Don't be half safe. Be completely safe with the right insurance policies.
